Fear Eruption When Palestine Decision Known

Believe Tuesday May See British In Final Crackdown on Terrorists

LONDON, Feb. 6 (AP).—The British Cabinet was split tonight on a solution to the critical Palestine problem, but hoped to present completed proposals to Arab and Jewish representatives here by tomorrow. Foreign Secretary Bevin and Colonial Secretary Jones were reported at odds over the formula for the Holy Land. Jones' compromise formula would partition Palestine within five years, with the Arabs and Jews having the right to secede at the end of the period.

JERUSALEM, Feb. 6 (AP).—A rumble of British military traffic echoed ominously tonight throughout all Palestine, tense and waiting for the culmination of three chains of events which in the next few days may erupt into a violent climax.

British lorries moved into new security compounds in this holy city as nearly 1,000 embittered Jews moved out. Barbed wire barricades sprang up in anticipation of a decision which many believe will cut this ancient land into Arab and Jewish states.

Next Tuesday may be the day of decision for the Holy Land. It is then, according to highly-placed informants, that an announcement may come from London lopping off part of Palestine for the Jews and keeping the rest of it Arab.

It is then, also, that Dov Bela Gruner, condemned for terrorism, may walk to the gallows for an execution which may be the signal for violent reprisals from the underground.

Finally, Tuesday is the first day after the deadline for the seven-day ultimatum given Jewish leaders by the Palestine Government to cooperate in bringing terrorism to book.

Wednesday night the Jewish leadership, holding that the order was tantamount to asking the Jews to become informers and spies, rejected the demand.

The result may be a general crackdown by the British Mandatory Government and army against terrorism in general, probably accompanied by some form of martial law, curfews and even a possible dissolution of official Jewish bodies such as the Jewish Agency and the Jewish National Council.

Plane Comes Down In Fog Near Madrid

AVILA, Spain, Feb. 7 (Friday) (AP).—A four-engined Cuban airliner crashed into a fog-shrouded cliff in the Gredos Mountains 90 miles west of Madrid Thursday evening, killing the three passengers and seven crew members.

The plane the Ruta De Colon (Route of Columbus), was en route from Lisbon to Madrid when the accident occurred. It had left Havana Wednesday flying by way of Bermuda and the Azores.

There was a conflict in the reported number of persons aboard at the time of the crash. The Cuban Consul in Lisbon said there were nine victims; Lius Valero Bermejo, civic governor of Avila Province, said there were 10. Other reports varied from eight to 14.

Luis Valero Bermejo, civil governor of Avila Province, fixed the time of the crash at 5 p.m. (12 noon E.S.T.) yesterday. At that time the airliner had flown a half-hour beyond its scheduled landing time at the Barajas airport in Madrid.

It is believed no descents were made yesterday from the Diving Tender No. 2, shown left, with crewmen making soundings. Peace Rumor In Indo-China Strengthened

PARIS, Feb. 6 (AP).—European representatives of President Ho Chi-Minh's Viet Namese Government put out new peace feelers in Paris and London today.

This report, coupled with the Viet Namese gesture, gave impetus to rumors that both sides were about ready to make some concessions in the hope of ending the 48-day Indo-Chinese war.

Delay Vote Of Confidence

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP).—Commons' circles said today it would probably be at least two weeks—possibly a month—before the Government has to face the two want-of-confidence motions moved at the opening of the Throne Speech debate.

The Commons today adopted a motion moved by Prime Minister Mackenzie King providing that the Throne Speech debate be adjourned from February 10 to February 24 to allow the Government to introduce bills dealing with the continuation of certain wartime controls.

The two-week adjournment of the debate will mean at least that much of a hoist for the potential test. A spokesman for one Opposition party said he doubted that the vote would come before March.

Twenty Planes Fail in Search

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 6 (AP).—A score of military planes returned to their bases late this afternoon after two days of fruitless search for a two-engine Navy Transport missing with ten men aboard since Tuesday night.

The search will be resumed tomorrow on a reduced scale.

The Transport, carrying six passengers and a four-man crew, vanished while returning to the Norfolk naval air station from Portsmouth, N.H.

Blizzard Blocks Saskatchewan Railway Lines

Serious Coal Shortage Worsens; Aid Rushed to Snowbound Towns

REGINA, Feb. 6 (CP).—All transportation in Southern Saskatchewan was at a standstill tonight as both national railway companies canceled all branch line schedules and drifts tied up main line facilities with a 50-mile-an-hour blizzard continuing to blast the Prairies.

The stoppage heightened serious coal shortage in cities and isolated communities in the area with all schools in many towns shut and other public buildings making plans to close.

The main line Canadian National Railways for westbound traffic has been blocked since early today by a snowbound freight train at Pense, Sask., 20 miles west of Regina. Eastbound trains were stopped by a freight train and plough caught tonight in another drift along the same 40-mile stretch between here and Moose Jaw.

It was hoped, however, that both would be freed by a special crew of 60 men sent from Moose Jaw and Regina.

The plight of snowbound communities was highlighted by calls for assistance tonight from Gray, 20 miles southeast of Regina, and Colgate, 80 miles southeast.

The Government air ambulance has stocked up with canned milk for babies at Gray and food for those at Colgate, a hamlet of less than 100 persons and will take off tomorrow as soon as weather permits. Traffic within Regina which was beginning to recover yesterday slowed in the new drifts and bakeries and dairies announced there would be no deliveries to homes tomorrow.

Snow-blocked railway cars were ready at Regina to take coal to the Fort San tuberculosis sanitorium 40 miles northeast of here, where some 500 patients have only two days supply left. Temperatures are expected to drop 30 degrees below zero tonight.

Officials said about 100 coal cars were stranded between various mines and the city awaiting locomotives, many of which are tied up by the drifts which have paralyzed transportation in the province.

Elsewhere the situation was grim. Fuel dealers at Moose Jaw called it "extremely desperate."

Find Bodies Of Three B.C. Indians

Still Pressing Search For Others in Party

PRINCE RUPERT, Feb. 6 (CP).—Bodies of three Indians missing for the past eight days in a small fishing boat of this West Coast port were found late today by search parties in Telegraph Passage, 12 miles from the point where the wreckage of the vessel was found earlier today.

Meanwhile, a plane, boats and ground parties continued to search the area for trace of four other Indians known to have been aboard the gill-net boat, which apparently floundered in treacherous ice floes in the mouth of the Skeena River last week while on a trip from Prince Rupert to Essington, B.C.

Late reports from the scene of the marine tragedy said the fishing vessel was found lying almost upside down on the coast about 30 miles south of here with wreckage strewn along the beach.

One of the three bodies found today was identified as that of Peter Spalding. The other bodies have not yet been identified.

Aboard the vessel when it left here January 30 were Mr. and Mrs. Spalding, their two children, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bennett and Mathew Wesley, all of Port Essington.

U.S.-Soviet Differences May Influence Conference

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP).—Difficulties are piling up between the United States and Russia prior to the Moscow Foreign Ministers' Conference on Germany.

As State Secretary Marshall studies the problems coming up at Moscow, officials said today the accumulation of Russian-American differences may influence greatly the course of the meeting.

Chairman W. W. Smith, of the Maritime Commission, told the House of Representatives merchant marine committee today that the Russians had ignored since last March 18 American efforts to get them to return 95 lend-lease ships.

Here are some other things disturbing good feeling:

1. The Russians have ignored notes asking negotiation of a final lend-lease settlement.

2. The Russians rejected a Washington appeal to join with Britain and the United States in getting "free and unfettered" elections in Poland. Marshall will bring this up at Moscow.

3. The Russians have ignored an American note urging them and the Chinese to work out arrangements for the withdrawal of Soviet troops from the important port of Dairen and its return to Chinese civilian administration.

4. The Moscow press and radio are continually criticizing "American imperialism" and "war mongering" in a manner which American authorities consider designed to distort American aims and policies.

5. In Eastern Europe, where many American citizens were caught by the war, the State Department has sought unsuccesfully to obtain "information on individuals and American property.

Break Seen In Mine Strike

NORANDA, Que., Feb. 6 (CP).—Hope that a break in the Noranda Mine strike negotiations might come tomorrow was voiced by Mr. Justice Oscar Boulanger tonight after day-long talks with union and company representatives.

With the shutdown entering its 12th week tomorrow, Judge Boulanger, industrial disputes commissioner appointed by the Dominion Department of Labor, found the dues checkoff demanded by Local 888, International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (C.I.O.), the chief stumbling block to a settlement.

Two Terms Bill To Go to Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP).—A proposed constitutional amendment limiting Presidents to a maximum of two terms was approved by the United States House of Representatives today.

The roll-call vote was 285 to 121 or 14 votes more than the two-thirds required. The message now goes to the Senate.

Body May Buy Co-operatively

A proposal to combat rising cost of living by the formation of a co-operative to buy food, tobacco, and other commodities was advanced at a meeting of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada last night.

The members felt that by grouping together they would be able to purchase food and necessities at wholesale prices and then distribute it among themselves.

The proposal will be forwarded to members of the various branches of the organization for discussion.

Thirty-four new members were enrolled at the meeting.

Report Due Soon On Coal Dispute

HALIFAX, Feb. 6 (CP).—Mr. Justice W. F. Carroll, conciliator in the wage dispute between the United Mine Workers and Dominion Steel & Coal Corporation, said here today he was working on the report of his conciliation efforts and expected it would be "along in a few days."

Rough Seabed by Islands Hinders Search for Plane

By FRED McNEIL

SALT SPRING ISLAND, Feb. 7.—Combined air force and navy sea rescue teams yesterday continued combing the seabed off Beaver Point in a search for two navy flyers believed to have crashed into the sea in a Firefly aircraft during a blinding snowstorm last Friday afternoon.

Search parties again abandoned their work at darkness last night with no tangible results.

Evidence collected in the area yesterday indicated that the two-seater ship-based reconnaissance aircraft crashed into the water with terrific force somewhere between Beaver Point and Salt Spring Island after circling at treetop level in a desperate attempt to obtain a landmark in the snow, which blotted out the landscape.

The two men, Lieut.-Cmdr. O. W. Tattersall, D.S.C., and Lieut. Clifford R. Gavel, both of 825 Squadron on board H.M.C.S. Warrior, are said to have attempted a flight to Vancouver, where the latter's wife resided. Bodies of the two are believed to be trapped aboard the plane.

The search is complicated by the rough nature of the seabed which corresponds to the mountainous islands in the area. Rocky points push above the surface of the water in some points and in others the depth exceeds 350 feet.

Old-timers in the district point out that the oil slicks reported as tangible evidence of the location of the aircraft are next to valueless unless the oil is properly analyzed. They state schools of herring and passing whales and black fish send up oil slicks that are very deceptive.

The neck of water between Beaver Point and Portland Island is described by natives of the district as a "whale run."

Aboard Provincial Motor Launch No. 6 yesterday this reporter toured the area during a routine patrol and interviewed eyewitnesses of the tragedy. Evidence from these witnesses pieced together by Corporal Earl Lockwood, veteran skipper of the vessel who knows every rock and inlet for miles along this coast, clearly established that the aircraft crashed into the sea.

Mrs. W. D. Patterson, Beaver Point, said she was in her store when she heard the craft circling at about 3 p.m.

MRS. W. D. PATTERSON

Describing the tragedy in her own words she said:

"There was a blinding snow storm. You couldn't see more than a few

Work on Seven Ships at V.M.D. Keeps 2 Drydocks, 1,200 Busy

Twelve hundred workmen are active at the Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd. these days pushing through work of conversion and overhaul on a record total of seven ships.

In addition, two ships are in the main drydock, one in the old drydock at Esquimalt, a fourth on the V.M.D. marine railway and two are lying alongside.

Many of the workmen are kept constantly busy on the major project, conversion of the Kathleen at an estimated cost of $1,500,000. Brought from drydock after the stripping-down process, she is due to return.

In the main drydock is the R.C.N. cruiser Uganda, together with the Canadian Pacific's coastal passenger ship, Elaine. Both are undergoing overhauls.

Formerly the yacht of J. P. Morgan, noted United States financier, the Corsair is being converted as another major contract for the busy West Coast yard.

According to officials of the yard, bids have been submitted on a number of large contracts, and the shipyard is confident of keeping employment at a high level throughout the postwar period.

Rain Makers Gain Success

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 6 (Reuters).—Man-made rain has fallen west of the Blue Mountains, in New South Wales, it was reported here today.

It poured down after a team of scientists had "bombarded" clouds with powdered dry ice from an airplane.

A research officer said later:

"We can produce rain given favorable cloud formations but nobody knows how often these tests can be successful."

Unprecedented Cold Wave Hits From Yukon to Warm Miami

(By The Canadian Press)

Temperatures warmed up considerably in parts of Eastern Canada Thursday. But it was just a teaser. Another cold wave is moving rapidly southeast from Northwestern Canada and will send the mercury tumbling again over Ontario Friday night.

That was the Eastern Canadian totlich of relief. There was no relief in the United States and Britain, hit hard by Winter's severest blows. Unprecedented Winter storms and a coal shortage was slowly paralyzing normal life in Britain. The frozen eastern half of the United States braced itself for another frigid wave.

Crop losses running into millions of dollars were suffered in the United States when a cold wave sent freezing weather deep down into Florida. In Miami the mercury hit freezing point, water pipes froze in parts of the city of eternal sunshine.

Northern Minnesota, which rivals any part of Western Canada for Winter frigidity, was preparing for 20 degrees below zero this morning.

In Britain the effects of the cold were even more serious. Ships at Liverpool were forbidden to load bunker coal except for coastal trips. More and more factories were closing down. British railways put a virtual embargo on all freight except coal to the more vitally-affected areas in the north.

In Canada, as the new frigid wave moved east the hamlet of Costello, near Kirkland Lake in Northern Ontario, yesterday recorded an unofficial temperature of 55 degrees below zero.

The severe cold was having serious effects in the Yukon territory where Dawson was blizzard-swept with fuel supplies and food running low. The temperature plunged to 73 below zero Thursday.

Pearkes Criticizes Policy Of Cutting Armed Forces

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP).—Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., Progressive Conservative member for Nanaimo, in the Commons today vigorously critized Government plans for reducing the strength of peacetime armed forces and said that under exisiting plans it would take the Dominion six months to place a division in the field.

Gen. Pearkes, veteran of the two World Wars, warned that Canada likely would be a major battlefield in a third world war. He said there should be a two-fold objective for Canada's armed forces. They should be able to withstand the first shock of attack until assistance came and they should be capable of joining other United Nations forces in going to the defence of another country.

"I believe that if we had foreseen as it might have been foreseen, the effect which the withdrawal of the Canadian occupational force in Europe would have on the influence which Canada has today in deciding and helping in the reconstruction of Europe and in the preparation of the peace treaties we might not have withdrawn that force so hastily without the consent of Parliament, embarrassing those other countries who were maintaining forces.

"At least, so it was declared. At any rate, it was a little hard on the Old Country that she should have to bear the burden alone.

"We said that it was administrative difficulties which made it impossible for us to maintain our occupational force in Europe. I suggest that if we are to be a world power our military officials have got to learn to overcome administrative difficulties."

B.C. Revenue Is $45,000,000

All-time high revenue collections of $45,000,000 are expected to be disclosed by Finance Minister Apacomb when he tables the public accounts for the fiscal year of 1945-46 following opening of the British Columbia Legislature next week.

The Budget called for collection of $37,267,713, but higher liquor profits, automobile licences and gasoline taxes will boost the total by several millions. In the 1944-45 fiscal year collections totaled $40,813,808, a revenue surplus of nearly $7,000,000.

Costs of Government administration have increased during the year, exceeding budget outlays of $37,198,980 for ordinary accounts, but despite this a sizeable surplus on current account is forecast.

Coal Famine in Britain Brings On House Debate

LONDON, Feb. 6 (AP).—The House of Commons scheduled a special debate tomorrow on coal as the creeping paralysis arising from unprecedented Winter storms and the serious coal crisis extended to more sections of Britain's life today.

The Ministry of Fuel suspended coal loadings on ships leaving northwest ports for foreign destinations, cutting off Ireland from its industrial fuel.

Fifty-two coal ships bound [illegible] North Sea gale to bring 100,000 tons of coal to fuel-starved industries along Britain's east coast, but 26 others still were immobilized in South Wales and northeast ports.

The South Metropolitan Gas Company, second largest in the London area, reduced pressure 15 per cent because of the coal famine.

In addition, more factories were closing and railways were virtually embargoing all freight except coal.

The Cabinet is believed to be considering an emergency plan for the distribution of what meagre stocks are available, giving first call to power undertakings until the weather improves and enables more stocks to be moved from pitheads.

The Air Ministry today predicted that the cold snap would continue for several days.

Electricity cuts also are general with some parts of London thrown into darkness. [illegible] telephone exchange was blacked out but continued service with emergency gas lighting.

Milk and vegetable shortages are becoming acute in cities as supplies pile up on snowbound farms.

In South Buckinghamshire, snow fell continuously for 16 hours and scores of country homes were without electricity while others had no heating.

All-Out Strike For Australia

MELBOURNE, Feb. 8 (CP).—Plans for a 24-hour strike which would involve an estimated 1,000,000 Australian trade unionists starting May 1 were approved today by a national conference of unions.

The strike, designed to emphasize labor claims for such concessions as a 40-hour week, abolition of wage ceilings, increase in minimum wage scales and removal of taxation on small incomes, was proposed to the conference by the executive of the Australian Council of Trade Unions.

The country-wide demonstration, if held, might stop transport, gas and power, close shops, halt all heavy industry and prevent newspaper publication.

The conference recommended that after May 1 no trade unionist work more than 40 hours a week unless overtime were paid.

Immigration Plans To Be Worked Out

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP).—Plans for the importation of manpower in the light of Canada's broadened immigration policy will be worked out by the Labor and Immigration Departments at conferences starting tomorrow, it was learned tonight.

Under the new policy announced by Resources Minister Glen in the Commons yesterday, four additional classes of immigrants are to be admitted, to bolster Canada's labor forces for farm, mine and forest industries.

$1,000,000 For Memoirs

LONDON, Feb. 6 (AP).—The Press Association reported tonight that "very satisfactory" progress has been made in negotiations between Winston Churchill and Henry Luce, publisher of Time and Life magazines, for serial rights to Churchill's war memoirs. "A sum in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 has been mentioned as the figure which Luce has agreed to pay," the report said. Time and Life officials in New York said they had no comment.

Glucose Flood Covers Street

SEATTLE, Feb. 6 (AP).—A railroad tank car burst open on the waterfront today pouring hundreds of gallons of sticky glucose, ingredient of candies and syrup, onto the street. A restaurant operator across the street, Ivar Haglund, news-and-picture-minded, was in the middle of it in his hipboots, scooping it up onto a stack of hotcakes, when the reporters arrived. It was Ivar, operator of the Waterfront Aquarium, who once staged a wrestling bout between Tony Galento and an octupus.

Guard Rails Avert Death

VANCOUVER, Feb. 6 (CP).—Four men and three women were unable to attend a birthday party at Harrison, B.C., today, but at the same time they narrowly escaped a horrible death.

The taxi in which the seven people were riding skidded on the icy Barnet Highway, whirled around three times and struck a rotting guard rail. Had the car missed either post of the rail, it would have skidded 50 feet across the ice and frozen mud surface and plunged 250 feet to the C.P.R. tracks below

Three of the men, E. A. Fraser, 27; G. Roberts, 35, and G. Dorsett, 27, were taken to hospital with minor injuries. The other man and the four women escaped uninjured.

The party was en route to Harrison Hot Springs to celebrate the birthdays of Rose Rewega and William Dewald, two other occupants of the taxi.

Mike Podovsky, city dump attendant, said he saw the front of the car hit the first post and snap it off, and then hit the second post.

"If it had gone through the gateway," he said, "there was nothing to stop it."

Alexander Invites Truman to Canada

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP). — President Truman today was invited by Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada, and Lady Alexander to visit the Dominion this year.

The distinguished visitors from Canada, who came to this capital this week for an informal, social visit, extended the invitation during a farewell call at the White House.

Warns Against Hard Bargains

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP).—Food Minister Strachey said today in concluding the House of Commons debate on world food that if Britain drove too hard a bargain against wheat-producing countries she might suffer later.

The debate revolved around the January report of the Preparatory Commission of the United Nations food and agricultural organization which was described by D. M. Eccles, former member of the wartime Ministry of Production, as a "sellout to the United States Government."

Eccles declared that by this plan, drawn up by the delegates of 16 countries including Canada, poverty-stricken Britain was asked to pay far more than her share.

LONG SEARCH ENDS

CHELAN, Wash., Feb. 6 (AP).—A week-long search for Dan Cornell, 62-year-old Manson rancher, and four of his orchard workers ended today when it was found definitely their automobile plunged off a road in a blizzard into Lake Chelan's depths, Deputy Sherriff Mario Faletto said.

When I Met the King

FOUR-YEAR-OLD Tania Szabo shows her uncle, Richard Bushell, 12, how she curtsied to King George VI during her visit to Buckingham Palace to receive the George Cross awarded posthumously to her mother, Mrs. Violette Szabo. Mrs. Szabo was one of England's greatest heroines. After her husband was killed at El Alamein, she volunteered for dangerous duty with British Intelligence. She parachuted into German-held France many times and did valuable espionage work. She was finally captured, tortured by the Gestapo and finally killed. The George Cross is the highest decoration for valor that Britain can bestow upon a civilian.

.. Oddities ..

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Feb. 6 (AP).—Manager A. J. Meeks of the Twin Falls office of the Idaho State Employment Service thought the man asking for construction workers appeared familiar.

"Haven't we met before?" Meeks asked.

"Yes," was the reply. "I was in here about a year ago to apply for a job and you got me one at the construction company. Now I own it and I'm looking for more help."

NEWARK, N.J., Feb. 6 (AP).—Flying conditions were hazardous yesterday, even for the birds.

A park pigeon was found ice-covered and unable to move beside a tree in Lincoln Park.

It was several hours before the bird thawed out by a radiator in a nearby office building and was released for resumption of regular flying schedules.

Missing Flyers

yards. The plane circled very low twice. I rushed out to the dock. It came right over my head. The engine was all right. It was making a terrible noise.

"I realized those boys were in real trouble. I just wished I could have yelled up to tell them where they were."

"I rushed in to telephone Patricia Bay, but my nephew, Norman Ruckle, told me he had already phoned. The air force officers told him they were in contact with the plane.

"Just a few seconds after that the airplane went so low it was below some of the higher trees. It disappeared over the point.

"I heard a loud crash, then there was silence."

John Pappenberger, who has resided on the other side of Beaver Point for 50 years, facing the stretch of water where the craft disappeared, gave this description of what happened:

"We heard the machine circling several times. It looked like it was lost. Then it came over my house so low I thought it was going to hit the trees.

"There was a crash, then an explosion that shook the windows in my house.

"My sons rushed out in a boat but the snow was so thick they could see nothing."

Captain John Egland of the Moresby III which was cruising nearby also reported hearing the final explosion and feeling the wake caused by the crash.

From these statements the conclusion has been drawn that the aircraft and its human cargo were borne to a watery grave in an area of less than two miles square.

But the rugged ocean floor has been guarding its secret closely.

NORANDA ACQUIRES PLANT

Sister Says Her Brother Is Dangerous Terrorist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP).—The House Committee on UnAmerican Activities asked today that the Justice Department charge Gerhart Eisler, an admitted Communist, with conspiracy to overthrow the United States Government.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP).—Gerhard Eisler, alleged chief Communist agent in the United States, refused to take an oath and testify before the House of Representatives Un-American Activity Committee today. He was cited for contempt.

The pale, defiant little man sputtered protests when Chairman J. P. Thomas (Dem., N.J.) asked him to swear to tell the truth. He repeatedly refused.

Finally, Thomas told Eisler to "step aside," meaning to leave the witness stand.

The committee promptly voted to cite Eisler for contempt. That is a charge which must be tried before a jury. Conviction carries a possible penalty of $1,000 fine and a year in jail.

One committee member who declined use of his name said evidence would be produced to show how orders drafted in Russia were passed along for execution by agents in this country.

He predicted this will lead to an investigation of leaks in atomic and other military secrets.

Eisler, self-styled "German anti-Fascist refugee" who was labeled top United States Communist by a committee witness last November, was arrested Tuesday in New York on a warrant charging violation of the Enemy Alien Act.

These witnesses took the stand later:

William Nowell, negro. He said he was Georgia-born, joined the Communist party in 1929, broke with it in 1936. He declared he had known Eisler in Moscow and in Detroit and that Eisler was for years an agent of the Communist International.

Ruth Fisher of New York City. She testified her real name is Eisler and that she is a sister of Gerhard Eisler, but has not spoken to him for years because she regards him as "a most dangerous terrorist both for the people of America and the people of Germany."

Between puffs as she chain-smoked cigarettes, Miss Fisher said Eisler was known in inner Comintern circles as "Gerhart," but added that he had "used many other names" in the course of his work.

(The Comintern is the International Communist Party Controlling Group.)

She said she was expelled from the Communist Party in 1925.

More than 114,141 tons of herring have been landed in waters off Vancouver Island since the season opened, it was reported yesterday by the Director of Western Fisheries, Vancouver.

Eliminating 'Bobby' Uniforms To Affect Publicity Campaign

While the change in police uniforms, eliminating the English "bobby" style helmet and tunic, will not materially affect the tourist business in Victoria, "it will seriously affect the Victoria Publicity Bureau's campaign to get tourists to come to the city," George I. Warren, bureau manager, said here yesterday.

"Every advertisement layout used by the bureau for the past 20 years has featured the distinctively English type of police uniform," Mr. Warren explained.

"In fact," he added, "all the 1947 art work and advertising copy which will appear in papers all along the Pacific Coast and in other parts of the country show the Victoria policeman in every display."

While the bureau never has intended to display members of the force as objects of tourist adulation, the bureau has consistently advertised the British atmosphere of Victoria as a drawing card for traveling Americans, Mr. Warren continued.

He pointed out that "on three previous occasions the uniforms have been changed, but were always brought back to their original style."

"The bureau is disappointed and greatly concerned over the police commission's stand in this regard," he said. "Their decision will take away from us one of our greatest drawing cards for the tourist industry. Although this won't do any immediate harm, over a long period of time it may seriously hinder the tourist trade."

X-RAYS SPOILED

Many X-ray plates are being ruined because women undergoing examination are wearing brooches, sequins and other decorative trimmings, according to S. G. Smith, technician in charge of the mobile chest X-ray unit now stationed at the Health Centre, Pandora Avenue. He advised all women coming to get chest X-rays to refrain from wearing jewelry or other ornaments on their dresses or blouses.

SAWDUST SHORTAGE

Sawdust fuel is in short supply here according to Victoria fuel dealers, who yesterday reported stocks at a new low.

Many dealers said they were "at least a month behind" in their orders, but that they hoped the situation would improve within the next few weeks.

Blame for the shortages has been put on weather conditions Up-Island, which have delayed the movement of logs and sawdust down to the city.

HEALTH WEEK

During the past three months infant mortality has doubled in Victoria, Dr. J. L. Anderson, medical health officer, said yesterday.

He noted "Health Week" was now being observed across Canada, and urged that everyone take a serious interest in health matters.

He mentioned water chlorination, pasteurization of milk, and other services given Victorians as protection against disease. Dr. Anderson is anxious that as many people as possible have a chest X-ray at the mobile unit now stationed at the Health Centre, Pandora Avenue. It will be open on the evening of February 14, he said, to accommodate those not able to attend during the day.

Captain Barr Again Heads S.P.C.A. Here

Following mention of the need of appointing a full-time veterinarian for work with the Victoria Branch of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the branch annual meeting last night passed a resolution "to take steps in securing the services of a veterinary surgeon."

In the report of President Capt. James Barr, it was stated that "many an animal has to suffer unnecessarily because professional care is often delayed and sometimes not available when most urgently needed."

Capt. Barr was re-elected president of the branch, with Madame Vivenot first vice-president, H. H. Smith, second vice-president; George Drew, treasurer; Mrs. W. B. Williams, recording secretary; Mrs. J. Barr, corresponding secretary, and Robert A. Wootton, counsel.

Those named to the committee included Mrs. H. C. Brockhurst, Mrs. W. R. Foster, Mrs. Herbert Gann, Miss C. A. Zurr, Mrs. T. W. Kerswell, J. L. Forrester, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Heywood, J. J. Corrin, A. H. Napper, B. P. Fuller, Victor Sherman and Mrs. P. K. Poulton.

In a resolution passed unanimously by the meeting, the matter of the city pound being without heat was referred to the City Council for action.

J. L. Forrester, reporting on the Animals Defence Committee, formed to help fight the Victoria S.P.C.A. suspension, said that $991.34 had been collected.

The new constitution of the branch, passed last year, was ratified by the meeting, and besides the report of the president, the secretary's, treasurer's and inspector's reports were presented.

Little Theatre Production Well Received

Before a charming setting, designed and painted by Margaret Izard, a lively family comedy, "Quiet Wedding," was performed by a capable cast at the Victoria Little Theatre last night. A capacity audience greeted the well-paced production with enthusiasm.

Audrey St. Denys Johnson, who has been responsible for several notable productions, directed, having taken over only three weeks ago.

All the cast were happily chosen, and while some of the minor parts were taken by less experienced members, all were promising and consistent in characterization.

The story concerns the Royd family, who are about to marry off their younger daughter, Janet. But on the eve of the "quiet wedding" she is so upset and over-tired with the fuss and fury that she tries to break her engagement. Aunt Mary, played with conviction by Nora Garcin, brings her worldly wisdom to the aid of both young people, and several family relationships are adjusted.

In the role of Janet, a newcomer, Joan Jobson, takes high honors. Her acting is smooth, natural and charming. The bridegroom elect, Dallas Chaytor, played by Frank Lindsay, was also a pleasing and highly competent performance. Katharine Voudall, in her first Little Theatre role as the bride's mother, gave an excellent and well-sustained portrait of a preoccupied overburdened housewife.

Arthur Royd, the father, was a delightful person as represented by W. J. R. Beech, whose acting has vitality and color. Making the utmost of the very amusing part of "Florence," the busy-body aunt, Aida Kroeger gave a vivacious performance.

Ron Wilson was excellent as Denys Royd and Bernice Dahl made a charming Flower Lisle. Other small parts done cleverly and with sincerity were taken by Sonya Britton, Moyra Mulholland, Christine McNab, Martin Kroeger and Walter Hartman.

The play will be repeated tonight and Saturday.

In addition, Mrs. J. R. Beaven was named chairman of the entertainment committee, with Miss M. Curry, Mrs. Bovey, Mrs. MacArthur, Mrs. Macdowall, Mrs. O'Meara, and Mrs. R. A. Wootton as members.

In his annual report, Sir Henry praised the women in the unit for their work during the year, and spoke of the plans ahead this year for the society, including the blood-donor service and its drive for founds which opens in March.

Mrs. Alice Curtis, workroom convener, reported that the sewing groups of the unit completed more than 500 garments during the year, with the knitting groups completing 117 articles of clothing.

Miss N. Nash, general convener of the Victoria branch, told the meeting of the necessity of keeping the workrooms in operation.

Mrs. O. Hulme, honorary treasurer, presented the financial report, while N. M. Foulkes, honorary secretary, told of the plans for Oak Bay's share in the drive for Red Cross funds which opens in March.

Airpark Representatives State Views to Council

An open meeting called by Saanich Municipal Council last night to hear interested parties present their views on rezoning of the Gordon Head area for the Memorial Airpark project heard only favorable comment on the plan when Harry G. Penman, representing Ward 3 ratepayers, said that he "wasn't given sufficient notice to prepare our case against the airpark project."

Reeve F. C. Warren agreed to hear Mr. Penman's arguments within the next two weeks.

W. A. Scott, president of the Memorial Airpark Association, led off the discussion by stating that everyone had agreed to the necessity for facilities for private flying in the Victoria area.

"The only controversy now is to the site of the airpark," he said. "W. S. Lawson, Western airway inspector, has studied the proposed site and says it's the most suitable and practical one in the Greater Victoria area."

Critics of the project, Mr. Scott continued, have repeatedly attacked it "without offering any constructive criticism of an alternative site."

AIRPARK SEEN PUBLIC UTILITY

"An airpark is a public utility, the same as docks, railway stations and other buildings," he stated, pointing out that the only opposition "was the prejudice of self-interest against the good of the community."

"If this zoning is refused, irreparable damage will be done to the community," he said.

In answer to questions by several of the councillors, Miles Hague of the airpark group said that the noises from such aircraft "would be less than any big trucks in the area."

Mr. Scott added that as far as the question of real estate values was concerned, the airpark wouldn't necessarily mean a decrease in property values.

"On the contrary," he explained, "a survey made of houses and property in the vicinity of Patricia Bay and Sidney has shown the values to have increased."

J. W. Holroyd, former Saanich councillor, asked for the rezoning of the Gordon Head area, and said that he owned 50 acres "within a block of the proposed site" and wasn't afraid of property values going down.

CITES SUCCESS OF PETITIONS

A. E. Horner, president of the Ward 1 Ratepayers' Association, told the meeting that he had collected 457 signatures on a petition circulated in Ward 1 "favoring the rezoning of the area to allow the airpark scheme to get under way." In addition, he said, 153 signatures from Ward 3 were obtained in a similar petition.

"The residents in our district feel we are as near the proposed site as those at Gordon Head, and therefore are entitled to the same consideration," Mr. Horner declared.

Mark Knisley, of the Memorial Airpark Association, pointed out that if the airpark is established "it will mean employment for many persons in the community, during the construction and after."

Called upon to present the views of the Ward 3 Ratepayers' Association, Mr. Penman charged that the argument heard earlier in the evening favoring the project "were full of misstatements and exaggeration," and could be refuted by argument.

However, since the Ward 3 ratepayers hadn't had enough time to prepare such arguments, he asked the council for another hearing at a later date.

"Hundreds and hundreds of the residents in the district are thoroughly aroused and opposed to this plan," he said.

On the request of Reeve Warren, a petition signed by 53 ratepayers in the Queenswood area was read out, which claimed the airpark project "would be a danger and a nuisance and would result in a drop in property values." The petition was against the rezoning on these grounds.

Immigration

We have seen political "millions" fade fairly fast in our day, but the speed with which Mr. Gardiner's "twelve million immigrants" has wilted into a small trickle of widowed or orphaned individuals, plus a few undefined categories of skilled and unskilled workers is well nigh breathless. Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner, P.C., was on the Coast less than a month ago. He created rosy pictures of a mass immigration policy for Canada; at least "twelve million immigrants" was the dominant note of his theme. As Mr. Gardiner rolled East the numbers shaded. On the Prairies, again, the "twelve million immigrants" had become a vague and indefinite number. Now from Ottawa, through Mr. Glen, Minister of Resources, comes the Cabinet's announcement of a slim trickle.

Mr. Glen refers to a "broadening of the Canadian immigration regulations," and states in what respect. The widowed daughter or sister of a domiciled Canadian will be allowed to enter this country, with or without children under 18 years of age, if their relatives agree to look after them. An "agriculturist"—as distinguished from a farm laborer—may enter Canada if his Canadian father, father-in-law, son, son-in-law, etc., agree to set him up on a farm of his own. A farm laborer may come if he can show "assured farm employment." "A person experienced in mining, lumbering or logging" may enter, also if assured of employment.

Such a policy remains subject to its "interpretation." The relatives would not amount to more than a trickle in any event. The "agriculturists" who are to be established on farms of their own are in the same category. The entry of farm laborers and of experienced base industry workers would seem to rest on domestic needs, as asserted by the industries affected at any one time. That part of the policy needs explanation. Will it be used to coax in Mr. Gardiner's "millions," or as a steam-pressure valve to silence industry when it complains of lack of personnel?

The basic question of selection would appear nowhere to have been mentioned. What immigrants, how many and from where?

Daylight Saving

With the House of Commons in session at Ottawa, the time is ripe for a clear-cut expression of opinion throughout Canada on the issue of daylight saving. Lack of federal policy last year threw the whole country into confusion. There was daylight time, standard time and even local variations. Part of British Columbia did one thing, and another part the other. On Vancouver Island at one period, the clock changed at Duncan, and changed back again at Nanaimo. Yet the salient fact remains that the majority of Canadians have found that daylight saving works to their satisfaction. The crux of the matter is that regulation should be Dominion-wide if it is to be effective.

Since the Federal Government sidestepped the obligation of making this decision on a national basis last year, there is small reason to suppose they will behave differently on this occasion. That is why City Councils, Boards of Trade and other representative bodies across Canada have been passing resolutions on the subject now. The overwhelming weight of that opinion is in favor of daylight saving time for all of the country, between fixed and known limits in the applicable period. If sufficient weight is put behind this request Parliament will act. Canada is at least entitled to a clear-cut decision on the issue, in time to make that decision of service.

There are, of course, two sides to the question. The great concourse of employed people in cities and towns have found in daylight saving the only means they have of obtaining extra time in daylight hours with which to work at their homes. Industry has benefitted directly from the same factor. On the land, where the farmer rises early and ends late, daylight saving is seen in a different light. The farmer says the clock should be left alone. The world's approach to the matter, however, has been to adopt daylight time where it is a saving, and to do this on a national plane. Canada should state its policy, and stick to it; so that the intolerable confusion of the Spring and Summer in 1946 shall not come again. The war proved the benefits of daylight time to be real.

Slipshod Financing

The Auditor-General of Canada is an important governmental official. He is a Civil Servant, but his role is not circumscribed by the limitations or expediency of departmental policies. He has the authority of Parliament behind him, and is free to speak his mind concerning the validity of governmental expenditures. He need worry neither about fear nor favor. What he has to say in his report tabled this week in the House of Commons is therefore worth noting.

He finds numerous Dominion practices open to criticism. There is the make-up of the national balance sheet for the year ending last March, which included a $150,000,000 reserve item which had no legislative authority and which resulted in an increase in national debt. There is the strange transaction whereby the Department of Veterans' Affairs purchased for $68,000 a hospital for which it has no use, simultaneously declaring it to be surplus. There were losses incurred in the National Housing Administration through the home conversion plan, one of which alone, a small apartment project in Vancouver, cost the national exchequer $8,000 more than was estimated. These and other instances of faulty financing were cited by the Auditor-General as practices which he felt compelled him to present to Parliament.

It is to be hoped Parliament takes more than passing steps to hold the Government responsible for careless and wasteful expenditures wherever made. The transactions criticized took place in the months immediately following the end of the war, when the spending habits of departments might legitimately have been curtailed in the interests of the national purse. They provide additional evidence that economy is almost an unknown word under the present Ottawa administration. The Auditor-General has rendered a public service in drawing attention to these departures from sound financial practice.

Unprepared

The plight of Regina and other Saskatchewan points dislocated by severe weather storms, joined with stringent conditions imposed in Great Britain and elsewhere for a similar reason, illustrates the precarious nature of modern society. The more complex civilization becomes, the more tenuous seems its line of supply and the more vulnerable it is to unexpected natural hazards. Distribution of essential commodities like food and fuel seem almost on a day-to-day basis, with no margin ahead to ensure provision against want in event of any emergency. The supply line is easily interrupted when misadventure strikes.

Former residents of the Prairies, of whom there are several thousands in Victoria, will be particularly interested in reports from Saskatchewan, where schools and colleges have been closed to save fuel, and where some rural communities have been isolated because of heavy snowdrifts. As invariably happens, householders are found with basement stocks of coal and other fuel depleted. Few individuals have had the wisdom of experience to keep their bins full, and they face discomfort because railway lines are blocked and fuel supplies are unable to reach community centres.

Victorians have had their own share of wintry weather recently, although nothing in comparison with conditions in many other parts of the country. They will sympathize with the difficulties of their fellow countrymen on the Prairies, even if some measure of the present stringencies might have been avoided. Citizens of this area are no more prone to build a backlog of supply against sudden need than those elsewhere, and unexpected frost here finds the same clamor for more fuel. Nature is unpredictable when it chooses to manifest its rougher elements, but individuals everywhere could with a little foresight put themselves in a better position to deal with its vagaries.

Retrograde Step

If Oak Bay Municipality rezones the Willows Grounds for residential purposes only, and so refuses the present owner the right to remodel or improve the property for the purposes for which it was acquired, it will be taking a retrograde step, and one contrary to the future interests of the Greater Victoria community as a whole. Such an action might debar Victoria from ever resuming its annual Fall Fair. It would be making horse racing—for the regulation and control of which federal and provincial laws exist—impossible at the Willows. It would, beyond all, be an indication that Oak Bay was preparing to ignore other interests in the Greater Victoria community quite as important as her own. Meanwhile, this community has long desired the full resumption of the annual Fall Fair, together with the recreational, athletic and other activities which the City of Victoria sought to guard in the terms of its recent sale of the property to private hands. Oak Bay was an unsuccessful bidder for the same property. To rezone now so as to defeat the desires of the Greater Victoria community would be to take a precipitate step, and one which, in our view, would be regretted sincerely.

From "The Choristers"

So music dwells in the glorious throats
Forever, and the enchanted notes
Fall with rapture upon our ears,
Moving our hearts to joy and tears
For things we cannot say.
In the wilds the whitethroat sings in the rain
His pure, serene, half-wistful strain;
And where twilight falls the sleeping hills
Ring with the cry of the whip-poor-wills
In the black dusk far away.

In the great white heart of the Winter storm
The chickadee sings, for his heart is warm,
And his note is brave to rally the soul
From doubt and panic to self-control
And elation that knows no fear.
The bluebird comes with the winds of March
Like a shred of sky on the naked larch;
The redwing follows the April rain
To whistle contentment back again
With his sturdy call of cheer. . . .

The Third Column

By TOM TAYLOR

"MAPLE LEAF UP"

If he had confined himself to the Canadian Army alone rather than including in the scope of his pen a summary of the Allied war as a whole almost, Peter Simonds' "Maple Leaf Up—Maple Leaf Down" would have etched the picture of Canadians in action with even more detail than it does, although some stimulating comments in general could thus have fallen by the wayside, and that would have been a pity.

As it is, this former signals officer and brother of General Guy Simonds, writes a most vivid narrative of Canadian soldiers in battle, and whether or not you agree with his appraisal of certain events, few persons should be able to read his account of the European campaigns without a thrill of pride in the men who carried the Maple Leaf into Germany.

The title of the book, incidentally, has nothing to do with the morale of the Canadian Army, which was always high once it reached the field of action. "Maple Leaf Up" was the sign that directed convoys to Canadian Army headquarters, and "Maple Leaf Down" set them on the opposite journey.

Particularly in his account of the Sicily and Normandy fighting does the "feel" of battle give you the impression you are right on the sidelines, if not indeed actually storming a redoubt with the Canadians concerned. Some of the other campaigns seem a bit sketchy in comparison.

MAIN INTEREST

It is the Normandy fighting and the Northwest European drive as a whole which engages Peter Simonds' interest mainly, and which he obviously considers most important to the defeat of Germany. Since this is the area in which he personally served from "D" Day to "V-E" Day his point of view is understandable, although it seems slightly indelicate to drop the First Canadian Corps like a hot potato just before it reached Rome, and then ignore the remaining half of its Italian campaign.

This was because the Third Canadian Division was about to be committed to its great Normandy adventure, and it was his favorite formation. "Magnificent" he calls the men whose exuberant morals made him fear sometimes for their safety, and on whose behalf he inserts a plaintive regret that they now sport only two campaign medals compared to the three worn by First Division veterans.

It should scarcely be necessary to mention that Victoria's Canadian Scottish were in the ranks of the Normandy assault division. "Maple Leaf Up—Maple Leaf Down" will make you glow warmly as you read about them.

A feature that stands out is the desperate ferociousness of the German S.S. troops, who fought with apparent disregard for their own lives, a factor that made the Canadians' task all the harder. You can also detect in the author a certain regard for men like Rommel and Kurt Meyer, and it comes as a surprise to read of the Eight Army's swift advance across the desert after El Alamein being described as a masterly time-gaining retreat by the guileful Rommel.

"MILITARY MONSTROSITY"

Some other comments are equally thought-provoking. Peter Simonds deprecates the belief that Britain survived 1940 by a thread, the light of after knowledge apparently leading him to term it a legend, and Churchill's oratory merely a jolt to the complacent.

The Dieppe raid he regards as a "military monstrosity," glorified by the red badge of courage but productive of lessons which could have been learned at a lower human cost. He asserts that the shackling of the Canadians resulted because an over-enthusiastic junior planning staff officer inserted into operations orders a clause that German prisoners would have their hands tied to prevent their escape. The Germans captured one of these orders, and retaliation followed.

According to Simonds, Eisenhower was the real strong man of the war, a man born of destiny for his job. His description of him—"mingling uprightness with intrigue and opportunism, kindliness and amiability with a Cromwellian harshness"—will be new to most people. The figure more commonly thought of as Cromwellian, Montgomery, Simonds concedes to have been the shrewdest and most experienced of Allied Second Front generals.

There are other sidelights of interest. General McNaughton was too precise a planner who believed in mountains of paper work, and who put his fervent desire to hold the Canadian Army together ahead of Allied need. The hooing that greeted Prime Minister King at Aldershot was a rebuke to the permanent force "pressure group" not to Mr. King. The "Chaude"—the Regiment de la Chaudiere—had a ruthless hatred of German snipers, and although in some of the heaviest fighting in Normandy, seldom brought back prisoners.

Peter Simonds makes a curious error when he says Montgomery was appointed Deputy Commander at SHAEF. Air Chief Marshal Tedder, of course, was Eisenhower's deputy. The slip would not matter except that this position is cited as a stepping stone for Montgomery's alleged ambitions.

"Maple Leaf Up—Maple Leaf Down" is a good book, nicely written and well worth reading. One regret is that although mentioning by name scores and scores of officers, the author did not find it possible to indentify at least one of the Canadian N.C.O.'s and men whose valor aroused so much of his admiration.

Atomic Research Not Military — McNaughton

By RUSSELL BARNES
(Copyright, 1947 by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc., and Detroit News.)

LAKE SUCCESS, L.I., Feb. 6.—Canada is pushing atomic research and is operating a small atomic plant at Chalk River, Ont., probably the only one outside of the United States, but the project has no military signifance, according to Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton.

McNaughton, who is Canadian representative on the United Nations atomic energy commission and director of the Canadian atomic energy commission, declared in an interview that Canadian research is directed solely toward the development of medical and industrial products.

"We are not even interested at the moment in production of atomic power," he declared. "Canada has so far developed only approximately one-fourth of her available waterpower. And when I say available, I mean on an economic basis—there are all kinds of power out in the 'beyond.'

"What happened in Canada was that we built a pilot plant at Chalk River during the war which would have been the forerunner of a really big atomic plant had the war continued. When the war ended, we were able to get enough money to continue the plant for purely research activities.

"We are primarily interested in developing medical products. I don't want to raise false hopes that we will be able to discover cures for anything, because that would be a cruel thing to do. But Canada did think it should use its small pilot plant to try to help push back the frontiers of scientific knowledge.

"Secondly, we are trying to develop radioactive substances for use in industry. We know, for example that when radioactive materials are introduced into chemical processes, strange things frequently happen. We hope our research will benefit industry in the development of new industrial products and processes.

"But, as I have said repeatedly, Chalk River has no military significance."

McNaughton refused to discuss recent allegations before a U.S. Senate Committee that atomic secrets have been leaking through Canada.

"There has been no let-down in Canadian security measures since the war," the Canadian General, former Minister of National Defence, declared. "Where the report of the Royal Commission (investigating the Red spy ring in Canada) disclosed weaknesses, the security system has been tightened. I can't be too emphatic in saying that there is the closest kind of collaboration among Canada, the United States and Great Britain in safeguarding atomic knowledge."

McNaughton said that while as a military man he feels "no power on earth is capable of menacing the North American continent" for at least a decade, he is convinced that defence must be organized on a continental basis.

"Defence is is no longer a matter of individual nations," he continued, "and the sooner we realize it the better.

"That means that we must continue to push scientific research, and conduct practical experiments to ascertain how our weapons and vehicles will work under both Arctic and tropical conditions.

"At Churchill on Hudson Bay, Canada and the United States now are operating a base to test machines under Arctic conditions—and don't think Churchill isn't Arctic. Churchill was selected because it has railroad facilities.

"The last I knew there were 130 Americans at Churchill, mostly civilians.

"But Churchill doesn't point an arrow at anybody. It is no more a threat than your experimental base at Aberdeen, Maryland.

"It seems difficult to get anybody to believe it, but operation Muskox had the same objectives. We wanted to test particular vehicles we had developed during the war, to see whether they could be adapted for use by northern mining companies and other business enterprises.

"They were vehicles which were originally designed for an invasion of Norway from the north, which never materialized.

"I have seen the Muskox reports, and they revealed, incidentally, that vehicles which worked extremely well in snow broke down when exposed to highway and other operating conditions in the south."

McNaughton was asked whether he figured a possible attack on the North American continent would come over the Polar Cap by way of Canada, as some American military men have envisioned.

"It is impossible to say," the Canadian General replied. "A wise and capable enemy, the only kind who would consider an attack on North America, would try to take an unexpected route. That is the reason we must experiment both with Arctic and tropical equipment.

"But, as I said, I don't consider that at present there is any power on earth capable of attacking the North American continent.

"At this stage, we don't have to be worried. We have the opportunity to bend our minds to the task of organizing collective security under U.N. confident that we have time to do the job, and without risk to ourselves.

"But naturally we should not give up our technological weapons until we get collective security. We should continue to push our research and develop both Arctic and tropical weapons.

"A strong man armed—not a weak man strongly armed—can keep the peace."

East's double of five hearts gave West something to think about on the opening lead, but he concluded that West might be short of diamonds and therefore laid down the ace of that suit. East misguided the defence by playing the eight, calling for a continuation. Actually, of course, he should have discouraged further diamond leads, and a shift to spades would have been virtually automatic on West's part. West, however, dutifully followed orders and led another diamond, knocking out the king.

Declarer now embarked on a truly remarkable line of play. He overtook the heart nine, ruffed his last diamond, cashed the trump ace, and then led a spade to the ace. His next move was to cash every trump except one. Later, he explained that he had been trying to hide his club void, in hope that the defenders would be fooled into keeping the clubs and discarding enough spades to let South establish an extra spade trick. This, however, was going a bit too far! West signaled high in clubs, and East held grimly to his king-queen of spades.

In the absence of a spade suit by West at the second trick, the contract was cold. The right play was to lead the club queen from dummy. If East put up the king, South would merely have to ruff, lead a trump or a diamond to dummy and let the club jack ride, discarding a spade from the closed hand. West would win, but another spade discard would now be available. If East ducked the club queen, South would discard the spade immediately, and later lead the club jack through East, to establish the club ten.

There is a rumor among grocery store proprietors that prices will drop in April. If it is true, it will be the best news housewives have heard for years . . . The increase of 10 per cent in the price of pies, layer cakes and pastry was added so quickly that shoppers knew nothing about it until it was imposed this week. Most cakes, tarts, pies and other similar products contain far less sugar than before the war, and have gradually been reduced in size. Now is the time for the Federal Government to grant a real increase in the sugar ration so housewives can do more baking at home . . . Robert L. Ripley's cartoon of last Wednesday contained the following explanation: "The Indian miners of Nanaimo, Vancouver, went on strike for higher pay in 1853, and they are still out." I hope the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau explains to Mr. Ripley that Nanaimo has no geographical connection with Vancouver . . . When the Canadian Lumbermen's Association meets at Montreal next Monday, members will discuss an important resolution requesting the Federal Government immediately to eliminate all controls on lumber. . . . From Bart: "When you are old enough to wrestle with one of the government's 'simplified' income tax forms, you realize why you had to study arithmetic, algebra, trignometry and geometry in school." . . . Tobacconist Martin told me a customer made the following remark: "The United Nations' conference is undoubtedly a good idea, but it is a shame there are so many foreigners in it." . . . From the Chatham News: "Persons who lose their savings through fraud, in most cases act hastily or without careful investigation of the proposition submitted to them. It is not difficult for any person to find out with considerable certainty whether or not they are dealing with reputable persons. Gullibility does not necessarily mean lack of intelligence or judgment. It very often indicates merely lack of adequate investigation and analysis."

THE HELMET

Sir,—Maybe you have some reason for undervaluing the police helmet that I know nothing about, but here is what I got first hand of its great usefulness to a peace officer. I think primarily, sun helmet, to avoid sunstroke; safety head piece, as a protection from blows on the head; also a protection from falling objects from buildings, fires; also the officer will still have it sitting on his head in rough going, riots, etc., as he slips a chin strap under the chin as soon as trouble presents itself, and it is practically impossible to knock the helmet from his head. Other hats all induce baldness. Maybe I have mentioned enough reasons for retaining the helmet. It was never meant for decoration, but personally I think it gives him a more official appearance and distinguishes him from a fireman, bank messengers, hotel officials and others.

I was recently in London, England, and I found police there still using helmets. There must be a reason. Several I have mentioned. Ask a real police officer. Possibly the ones that would regret the change the most will be the ones that ask for it, for they are throwing away the protection to the most vulnerable part of their anatomy.

"MANDARIN"

Sir,—Your correspondent in today's Colonist on the question of the origin of the word "Mandarin" evidently overlooks the generally accepted derivation from the Sanskrit "Mantrin" "counselor" (from root, "man", "to advise"). Luftwaffe Plot to Kill Stalin Revealed by British Ministry

LONDON, Feb. 6 (Reuters).—The German Luftwaffe special duty service—the Kampf Geschwader 200—planned to assassinate Generalissimo Stalin, flying in patched-up American and British aircraft, the British Air Ministry said today.

"Full details about this attempt will never be known," an Air Ministry spokesman said, declining to give details.

In addition to their plans to kill the Soviet leader, the Kampf Gesch-

of flights to the United States which never got beyond the stage of discussion, and organized the wholesale dropping of agents, three at a time in special container, in Russia, France, Britain and Italy.

A suicide corps belonging to this force piloted V-2 rockets on the initial stages of their flights to Britain, bailing out after setting the steering mechanism.

The information released by the Air Ministry has been obtained from captured top-secret documents and from information supplied by a Colonel Baumbach, former commander of the Kampf Geschwader 200.

The Kampf Geschwader 200 was formed early in 1944. Those units responsible for the dropping of agents behind Allied lines specialized in different ranges and heights.

"Each had its code name," the Air Ministry's statement said. "The peak month for agent-dropping was July, 1944, when more than 260 persons were planted and over an eight-month period more than 600 men and women were landed.

"Frequently these agents were dropped in large three-man containers suspended by four parachutes. Twelve distinct types of aircraft were used, including patched-up American Flying Fortresses and Liberators which crashed in Germany.

"One of the last assignments given to the Kampf Geschwader 200 was the evacuation of important persons from burning Berlin. They tried to find 1,000 radio operators for underground work with the Werewolves, but this plan failed miserably."

Teen-Age Band Battles Union

HALIFAX, Feb. 6 (CP).—James C. Petrillo and his American Federation of Musicians (A.F.L.) have run slap-bang into a group of Halifax teen-agers which is girding up its violins and trumpets to do battle with the mightly union.

"Petrillo may be able to get away with that stuff with the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System but he can't pull it on us," Dave McDonald mayor of the Halifax Youth Council, said tonight as the Tri-Teen Council prepared for a mass meeting Sunday to put its case before some 30 Halifax clubs and organizations (adult).

The situation as it now stands is this:

The Tri-Teen Council decided some time ago to present a full radio show over a local station, using its own musicians. The script was written, the Hep Band ready to give out.

Then the A.F.M. local tossed a wet sock on the front burner. It said the band would have to employ union members or at least that union musicians would have to stand by—in either case they would be paid.

Donald Dakin, 19, chairman of the radio committee, said "It isn't a commercial program and there's no money involved and we don't want adults."

Roy Smith, director of civic recreation, said, "I think the kids have got a case. I haven't helped them with the program at all except for a bit of advice. After all, it's the only way we can develop talent by letting them air their own productions.

"If teen-age musicians can't go on the air, then all we'll have will be a crop of singers," he added.

Union officials declined to comment.

Ellen Wilkinson Dies in London

LONDON, Feb. 6 (AP).—Pert, tiny, red-haired Ellen Wilkinson, Minister of Education, died today 24 hours after entering a hospital for treatment of bronchitis.

Miss Wilkinson never disclosed her age, but Debrett's Peerage, a leading biographical authority, gave it as 55.

Her death, the first in Prime Minister Attlee's Cabinet since it was formed in August, 1945, was attributed to a heart attack. She had been ill for months.

Incredibly hard-working, she was the second woman ever to serve in a British Cabinet. The first woman minister was Miss Margaret Bondfield, who held the Labor portfolio in 1930, in the Chamberlain Conservative Government.

Miss Wilkinson's most lasting contribution as a Cabinet Minister probably was her successful campaign to raise the age for leaving school from 14 to 15, a fight she won despite the opposition of fellow ministers and the acute need for young recruits for British industry.

A member of a Manchester working class family, she trained to become a teacher but entered politics instead and won a seat in Parliament in 1924. She was only four feet nine inches tall.

U.S. Ambassador Passes Suddenly

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP).—O. Max Gardner, United States Ambassador to Great Britain, died today in New York.

The White House made the announcement and said death was due to coronary thrombosis.

The newly-appointed ambassador was en route to take over his London post. He was scheduled to sail today on the Ss. America.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said President Truman is "deeply grieved and shocked."

Mr. Gardner was named to the diplomatic post a month ago to succeed W. Averell Harriman, who left London to become United States Secretary of Commerce.

Prior to his appointment to London, he was under-secretary of the treasury. He served in politics for almost 40 years and was a former Governor of North Carolina.

Union Challenges Food Cost Figures

VANCOUVER, Feb. 6 (CP). — A cost-of-living analysis submitted to the Civic Conciliation Board here is far from being in agreement with the latest analysis released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The analysis submitted to the board yesterday by Hugh Bird, business agent for the Firefighters' Union, showed food prices here increased by 77.4 per cent between August 25, 1939, and November, 1946. Ottawa figures for the same period show the food index has risen by only 48.3 per cent.

Civic employees, including the firemen, are seeking a 15-cent-an-hour pay increase.

The brief contended that since 46.4 per cent of Vancouver citizens own their own homes and since the cost of owning a home has skyrocketed, the Dominion Government is wrong in confining its shelter index to prevailing rentals.

Shop Scramble Bruises Women

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Feb. 6 (CP) — Many women in Lethbridge were gloating tonight while others nursed bruises they received in "operation muslin"—the mad scramble that developed as hundreds of shoppers jammed a downtown department store in a determined effort to purchase their share of a sale of yard goods.

More than 500 women streamed into the store when its doors opened. There was a sprinkling of men, too, and some of them beat the women at their own game of pushing and grabbing and snatching.

Numerous individuals grabbed bolts of cloth and hung onto them for dear life while some of the stronger and mightier women barged through th stampede to the front of the ranks and emerged victorious.

Minister Defends Study Textbook

REGINA, Feb. 6 (CP). — Charges that records for schools introduced by Saskatchewan's C.C.F. Government were similar to Gestapo dossiers and that the social studies textbook "World of Today" was used for political propaganda were answered today by Education Minister W. S. Lloyd.

In a Throne Speech debate address Mr. Lloyd said that Opposition Leader Patterson's reference yesterday to the cumulative records of the schools was "the type of remark which one would expect only from a political charlatan of the nth degree."

The Education Minister said the items included in the record used in Saskatchewan schools were recommended by the United States national committee on cumulative records set up by the Federal Government there in 1944.

The records were used to enable teachers to study each child as an individual. They were invaluable in the mental hygiene program being conducted.

"Our mental institutions are the recipients of too many people who need not be there except for serious lacks in their preparation to enable making of decisions," he said.

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP).—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said today in the Commons the Government still is accepting any ration coupons which Canadians wish to turn in as a step in providing more food for hungry peoples of Europe.

Dr. H. M. Tory Dies at Ottawa

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP).—Dr. H. M. Tory, president of Carleton College in Ottawa, former president of the University of Alberta, and former president of the National Research Council, died in hospital today. He was 83.

Well-known as a scientist, author and educationist, he had been in ill-health for some weeks.

Born in Guysborough, N.S., in 1864, Henry Marshall Tory graduated from McGill University in 1890, and the following year lectured there while obtaining his Master of Arts and Doctor of Sciense degrees.

A distinguished scholar, he held honorary doctorates of law from St. Francis Xavier, McGill, Toronto, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Western Ontario, Acadia, McMaster and Queen's Universities.

Dr. Tory was appointed first president of the University of Alberta in 1908. He resigned this post in 1928 to assume the permanent presidency of the National Research Council and directorship of the National Research Laboratories.

After retiring from these positions in 1935, he was recalled to academic work during the war, and in 1942 took over the presidency of the newly-formed Carleton College in Ottawa.

As a lecturer in mathematics at McGill University, he was sent in 1905 to Vancouver as a member of the McGill staff to assist in founding McGill University College, which later became the University of British Columbia.

Tourist Influx Breaks Record

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP).—Arriving in record-shattering numbers from 55 different countries, tourists last year brought Canada an all-time high sum of $212,000,000.

In a preliminary estimate of 1946 border crossings, the Bureau of Statistics today reported 1,422,000 cars—73.5 per cent more than in 1945—checked ahrough at Canadian border points and stayed for more than 24 hours. Entries by lond-distance bus were estimated at 310,000 persons, by plane, 100,000 and by boat, 340,000.

The figures did not include the "millions of local visits" across the International Boundary.

Scotland Yard Begins Drive To Smash Gangs of Thieves

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP).—Gangsters used to mean Chicago to Londoners; now they think of their own city when they hear the word.

"Highly-Organized Gangs Stealing Furs" shouts one newspaper heading. "Yard's Drive to Smash Gangsters," says another. Accompanying stories tell of thefts costing £30,000 a week.

Crime reporters say the gangs are largely composed of deserters from the forces. About 20,000 British servicemen are on the loose, along with 2,000 Canadians and Americans. These men have no civilian registration and "in many cases are leading an underground existence," said Defence Minister Alexander when he made a recent appeal to them to surrender.

In the first week after he announced that those who gave themselves up by March 31 would receive every consideration, only a dozen responded. No amnesty for deserters is planned, but they will be helped toward their "rehabilitation."

Scotland Yard has warned against the "spy system" employed by gangs. Those who entertain on a large scale have been told to check carefully their guests and staff.

"A most ingenious and businesslike inventory is made of guests at West End 'first nights' and charity balls by men and women planted there by thieves," said a police officer.

"In most cases women are employed. They make a list of the more prominent guests and their addresses and get word to the gangs the same night. The residences of these people are immediately burgled in their absence."

Up-to-date gangs use "every scientific aid," said an insurance assessor. "No signs of forcible entry is to be found in many cases of housebreaking now occurring."

Old Sourdoughs Shiver In Frigid Dawson Blasts

DAWSON, Y.T., Feb. 6 (CP).—Rugged sourdoughs, who once roamed the famed Klondike Valley in search of gold, today were on a new hunt—a search for fuel.

Blizzard-swept, and at times fog-clouded, Dawson is without fuel, supplies are running low in stores and homes, and the Far Northern community is isolated with all planes grounded. The only outside outlet is the radio, operated by the Royal Canadian Signals.

Supplies of firewood have been rationed, wood haulers forced to abandon operations as the mercury plummeted to a low of 73 below zero, with an average of minus 60 for the last 14 days.

Prized picket fences have disappeared, chopped for firewood, discarded furniture has gone into stoves, and even woodsheds have been demolished.

Many homes have been abandoned, their owners seeking shelter in hotels and cafes, some sleeping in chairs or on stools, while others in heatless houses go to bed fully clothed in the garb of the Northland—in mackinaw, fur-trimmed parkas and fur hat.

The last plane from Whitehorse, Y.T., landed here 13 days ago, and now store shelves show a dwindling supply of food, and eggs are unobtainable.

The punishing cold has left Dawson and the valley a silent land, few braving the frigid blasts. Horses cannot work in the icy cold, and caterpillar tractors, with frozen oil, have been useless. It is a land where even anti-freeze congeals like butter.

It was warmer today, a mere 56 below zero, but little relief was in sight.

PRINCE GEORGE, Feb. 6 (CP).—Police learned here today that the $20,000 Northern Spruce Co. Ltd. sawmill, near Willow River, B.C., was completely destroyed by fire.

At the Theatres

Pioneer Comedian In Dominion Film

Andy Clyde was a pioneer in portraying the comic stooge to film cowboys. He was doing it back in the Mack Sennett days, and for a long time he has prospered as Bill Boyd's alter ego in the Hopalong Cassidy series.

Now Andy goes completely highbrow in portraying the comic relief for William Elliott in Republic's de luxe, large budgeted outdoor film, "Plainsman and the Lady," which will open today at the Dominion Theatre, with Vera Ralston in the feminine lead.

Hitchcock Thriller Stars Cary Grant

Famous for his mastery of dramatic suspense on the screen, Alfred Hitchcock has carved a niche all his own in Hollywood with some of the best thrillers ever filmed. His latest production for RKO Radio, "Notorious," which opens today at the Royal Theatre, co-stars Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman in a timely story of postwar German agents in Brazil and their schemes for a third world conflict. The two principals portray U.S. secret operatives probing the conspiracy, with plenty of excitement resulting. Featured in the cast are Claude Rains, Louis Calhern, and Mme. Leopoldine Konstantin.

ATLAS THEATRE The hilarious story of an inoffensive Brooklyn milkman who, through a fluke, becomes a prize fighter and wins the world's welterweight championship, is told in Samuel Goldwyn's Technicolor laugh-riot with music, "The Kid From Brooklyn," starring Danny Kaye. Virginia Mayo, Vera-Ellen and the Goldwyn Girls head the supporting cast of this RKO Radio release now showing at the Atlas Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE The engrossing story of Elizabeth Kenny, the great Australian nurse, who developed the now famous treatment for infantile paralysis patients is presented in RKO Radio's screen biography, "Sister Kenny," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. Rosalind Russell stars in the title role and Alexander Knox co-stars as her staunch champion.

RIO THEATRE Yvonne De Carlo and Rod Cameron are starred in "Frontier Gal," now at the Rio Theatre. Although Yvonne can sing and dance as well as act, her performance in "Frontier Gal" is based largely on her dramatic appeal. She does have two songs, however, and in the elaborate bar and tavern set where she presides, she performs some very fancy dances.

Amusements
ON THE SCREEN

Astor—Fredric March and Betty Field in "Tomorrow the World."

Atlas—Danny Kaye in "The Kid From Brooklyn."

Capitol—"Sister Kenny," starring Rosalind Russell.

Dominion — William Elliott and Vera Ralston in "Plainsman and the Lady."

Oak Bay—"Fanny by Gaslight," starring James Mason and Phyllis Calvert.

Plaza—"The Killers," starring Ava Gardner and Burt Lancaster.

Royal—Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman in "Notorious."

York—"The Wicked Lady," starring James Mason and Margaret Lockwood.

YORK THEATRE Margaret Lockwood, runner-up in a recent "Picturegoer" popularity award, and the most popular British woman star according to cinema managers in this country, and James Mason, rated No. 1 British box office star, are together again in the 17th century period romance, "The Wicked Lady," which is now thrilling audiences at the York Theatre.

Little Stories for Bedtime - - -

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

FARMER BROWN'S FRIENDS

As Peter Rabbit sat admiring Rosebreast the Grosbeak, another bird appeared in the tree with Rosebreast.

"Who's that?" cried Peter.

"Mrs. Grosbeak, of course. Who else would it be?" sputtered Jenny rather crossly.

"Never, never would I have guessed it," replied Peter. "She doesn't look the least bit like him except that she is the same size and shape."

This was quite true. There was no beautiful rose color about Mrs. Grosbeak. She wore brown and grey principally, with little touches of buff, here and there, and dark streaks on her breast. Over each eye was a whitish line. It didn't seem possible that she could be the mate of handsome Rosebreast. To Peter she looked more like an overgrown member of the sparrow family. While Rosebreast sang Mrs. Grosbeak was very busy picking buds and blossoms from the trees. This struck Peter as queer.

"What is she doing that for?" he inquired.

"For the same reason that you bite off sweet clover blossoms and leaves," replied Jenny Wren tartly.

"Do you mean to say that they live on buds and blossoms?" cried Peter. "I never heard of such a thing. I like that."

"Tut, tut, tut, tut. You can ask more silly questions than anybody of my acquaintance," retorted Jenny Wren. "Of course they don't live on buds and blossoms. If they depended on those they would soon starve to death. Use your head, Peter, use your head. You know well enough that buds and blossoms last only a few days. Some people eat a few just for the sake of variety, but they live mostly on bugs and insects. You ask Farmer Brown's Boy who helps him most in his potato patch, and he'll tell you it's the Grosbeaks. They certainly do love potato bugs. They eat some fruit, but on the whole they are about as useful folk around the garden as any one I know. Now run along Peter Rabbit, and don't bother me any[illegible]"

Peter didn't run along right away. He sat around watching Rosebreast and Mrs. Grosbeak until he happened to look up to see Farmer Brown's Boy just starting down through the Old Orchard. Then Peter decided it was time for him to leave.

Next Story: "Peter Finds a Friend in Trouble."

Increase in Business

WINNIPEG, Feb. 6 (CP).—H. W. Manning, vice-president and managing director of Great-West Life Assurance Company, in presenting the annual report to the 55th meeting of the company held in Winnipeg said $1,000,000,000 of business in force was a notable milestone passed in 1946. Commencing the year with [illegible] was reached in July, and, at the close of the year, the total had grown to $1,057,000,000, representing by far the largest gain in any one year in the company's history.

New protection, placed in force under insurance and annuity policies, aggregated $173,345,000 on the lives of more than 50,000 men, women and children, and exceeded by $52,000,000 the amount of new business placed in 1945.

Cosier Hits Back At United Critics

Manager Defends Victoria Intercity Eleven—Most Soccer Fans Favor Club

Undefeated in three games and still leading the second-half standings in the Pacific Coast Soccer League, Victoria United are preparing for their all-important game with North Shore at Royal Athletic Park tomorrow anxious to turn in a victory over the powerful Vancouverites. Meanwhile, controversy over the Victoria inter-city entry still rages with most fans seeming to feel that inter-city soccer is preferable.

Fans queried on the subject almost unanimously came out in favor of the United and feel that all Victoria and District clubs should lend their full support. Letters to The Colonist sports department also bear out this view.

G. Spence Mathews is among interested soccer followers taking a firm stand on behalf of an inter-city club and urges that all senior league clubs "forget their petty jealousies and back the United in the Provincial Cup."

Replying to published statements of Scotty Robinson and Alf Richards, condemning United as a detriment to Victoria soccer, Ralph Cosier, manager of the United club, strikes back in defence of his eleven.

"How any man can say that United is the worst thing that ever happened to soccer in this city is beyond reasoning. In actuality, it is the finest thing for many reasons. To make Victoria's inter-city team should be the goal sought by all young athletes whether the sport be soccer, baseball, Rugby or any other. It follows that a quest for a spot or future position on the United should improve the brand of soccer played by the younger fellows whether they play in the senior league or in the intermediate section," Cosier stated in part.

Cosier points out that only a few seasons ago an intermediate eleven disposed of two senior league clubs and tied Victoria Wests before being eliminated in the Jackson Cup series to illustrate the potential strength of intermediate clubs.

SEPARATE UNITED CLUB APPEARS BEST SOLUTION

Replying to charges that the United were an old club and ready for the "asir can" made by Robinson at last week's meeting of soccer officials, the United manager answers that the average age of his club is 24 years, making them probably the youngest club in the Pacific Coast circuit.

Attendance at Pacific Coast games is also used by Cosier as an argument for inter-city competition.

Regarding the stand of city clubs, Cosier states "the Canadian Legion have not been helpful in supplying playing strength. However, their secretary, Ernie Costain, comes closest to the best solution when he suggested that United players should only play for one club. Esquimalt and Victoria West men form the backbone of our club and their managers will logically state that the Legion are in a position to make such a statement as no players will be lost to them."

"Fans will be interested in knowing Esquimalt and Victoria Wests each have five players on the United, Oak Bay seniors have three, Hudson's Bay, Navy and Legion one each with one player having no other club affiliation. It is believed that two Oak Bay players and the one Legion member will go back to their own clubs before the February 28 deadline for the Province Cup."

In conclusion, Cosier makes a plea for better harmony. "I urge players, officials and all concerned with the welfare of soccer to forget these petty differences. Soccer will go back at least ten years if this city loses its franchise in the Pacific Coast League. Most of our trouble has commenced since we stopped losing all of our games and reached a position where we started to hold our own in league play. Why?"

Robinson Wins Table Tennis Singles Crown

Win Robinson defeated T. Harper 21-17, 21-16, 21-17 to become the new Veterans' singles table tennis champion, as play advanced to the quarter finals and semi-finals in all events of the 14th Annual Victoria City table tennis championships.

Art and Eddie Ngai, Victoria junior champions, scored a smart victory over Eric Walker and Harold Sinclair, 21-19, 23-21, 15-21, 19-21, 21-17 to reach the semi-finals in the open men's doubles. They will now meet Vic Tully and Ray Dawson the defending champions.

Doug Robinson, hard-hitting local junior, upset top-seeded Win Robinson, 21-18, 21-19, 10-21, 21-16 to reach the finals of the popular Senior "B" singles.

With all champions defending their titles play tonight in the north ballroom of the Crystal Garden will advance players to the finals in all events.

Tonight's feature match is expected to be between defending Women's Champion Barbara Mackay and former B.C. Champion Joy Payne.

Salem, Spokane Cagers Merge

SEATTLE, Feb. 6 (AP).—The Salem and Spokane professional basketball teams combined into one club today and will continue play in the Pacific Coast Pro League as the Spokane Blazers.

League officials knuckled down late today to the job of revamping the schedule for February to fit a six-team circuit, saying they expected to have the new slate ready for release tomorrow. They said the league season would end March 15, with playoffs among the four top teams to follow.

Also disclosed were plans for the Baltimore Bullets, leaders of the American Basketball League, to appear in the Northwest this Spring against the Seattle and Bellingham teams at dates still to be set. The Bellingham-Baltimore game may be held at Wenatchee during the annual Blossom Festival.

Games with Seattle, Bellingham and Wenatchee are definitely on the Baltimore trip schedule, league officials said, but the dates have not yet been released.

Richard Regains Nine-Point Lead

Scoring his 32nd goal of the season and assisting on three others in Canadiens' 8-2 triumph at Toronto last night, Maurice Richard regained his nine-point lead over Max Bentley, who had moved within five points of the Canadien sharpshooter in a recent scoring splurge.

Ted Kennedy, only other member of the N.H.L. Big Seven who saw action last night, picked up an assist to break a third-place deadlock with Doug Bentley.

The leaders:

	G	A	Pts.
Richard, Montreal	32	21	53
M. Bentley, Chicago	32	22	54
Kennedy, Toronto	21	28	49
D. Bentley, Chicago	17	23	40

Propose Radical Changes In Canadian Rugby Rules

MONTREAL, Feb. 6 (CP).—There'll be more sting to the attack in Canadian football next season if the Canadian Rugby Union adopts proposals for rule changes to be submitted at a meeting of its rules commission in Toronto, February 22.

Col. D. Stuart Forbes, athletics director of McGill University, and Joe Ryan, business manager of Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four, disclosed today some of the proposals which will be discussed at the Toronto meeting.

One proposal, likely to produce plenty of arguments, would allow unlimited blocking ten yards ahead of the line of scrimmage. The Q.R.F.U. favors this rule, which has been tried out successfully in school football here, but the C.R.U. at present limits ten-yard blocking to men along the line of scrimmage.

Col. Forbes, a member of the rules commission, favors a loosening of the rules dealing with the forward pass. These rules, he said, were framed when the pass was in its infancy and was too highly regarded, and he would like to have them modernized.

One of the changes he suggests is that the rule nullifying a pass which does not cross the line of scrimmage be wiped out, and he also favors a change in the rule giving the defending team the ball on the 25-yard line after two passes across the goal-line are grounded.

REDUCTION PROPOSED IN LENGTH OF FIELD

Another proposal which will come before the meeting will be a recommendation that the length of gridirons be reduced from 110 to 100 yards, enabling many teams to play in ball parks and other stadia at present too short for football.

The C.R.U. also will hear a suggestion that the half-time kick-off be abolished, and that teams start the second half from the point where play stopped at the end of the second quarter.

The Big Four and the Q.R.F.U. both are in favor of a change in the rule governing blocked kicks, Ryan said. At present if a third down kick is blocked and recovered by the team which kicked, a fourth down is granted.

Ryan said he favors a change giving the advantage to the team which blocks the kick, and his personal suggestion is that a penalty of ten yards be assessed against the team which kicked.

Another change proposed is that linesmen be placed on both sides of the field, instead of on one side as at present, to keep watch over players who step out of bounds.

400 RINKS IN BONSPIEL

WINNIPEG, Feb. 6 (CP).—A new record of 400 rinks will compete in the Manitoba Bonspiel opening here Monday, it was announced tonight after entries closed. The previous record was 396 last year.

A bill has been introduced in the California Legislature which would compel owners of any horse nominated for a race in the state to have the horse in California at the time of nomination and until the race has been run.

It is expected that some of the best horses in Eire will race in the international $100,000 event at Jamaica in July.

All other five clubs in the Southern Section of the P.C.H.L. have furnished one player to the San Francisco club to replace men lost by injuries in the Fresno train-gas truck collision.

Ray Orteig and Bob Chesnes, well-known in Victoria baseball circles, have returned signed contracts to the San Francisco Seals of the P.C.L. Both are given a good chance to make the team after good seasons last year with Vancouver and Salt Lake City, respectively.

Hal Newhouser leaves Tuesday for Detroit Tigers' training camp and is expected to come to terms without any fuss. A figure upwards of $50,000 is being quoted as his probable salary.

DIT CLAPPER

Veteran of 20 years of service with the Boston Bruins, an N.H.L. record, Clapper was yesterday selected for hockey's Hall of Fame. Other candidates are being considered, but the announcement of Clapper's inclusion was made earlier to coincide with his 20th anniversary with Boston. He joined the Bruins when he was 19 and for ten years played right wing on the famed Clapper - Dutch Gainor - Cooney Weiland trio and then dropped back to a defence post and made the all-star team as a defenceman in 1940, 1941 and 1942. He has scored 234 goals and 247 assists in league play and 13 goals and 19 assists in play-off games. His high was in 1929-30 when he accounted for 41 goals and 20 assists.

The Langford-Colwood combination captured the first game of the Intermediate "B" play-offs in the Saanich Suburban League when they defeated St. Aidan's, 28-24, in a closely contested match, Wednesday.

Ross sparked the winners to an early lead and then pushed up three baskets in the final quarter as they held their narrow advantage.

MONTREAL, Feb. 6 (CP).—Rolling up a 7-0 count in the first two periods, Montreal Canadiens swamped Toronto Maple Leafs, 8-2, here tonight before a crowd of 12,341 and took a commanding five-point lead over their rivals in the National Hockey League race.

Canadiens smother Leafs, 4-0, in the opening period and ran up a commanding lead that was never threatened in a rough and bruising game that saw 12 penalties handed out, nine going to the hard-checking Canadiens, who kept Leafs on the defensive throughout.

Though they won the game, Canadiens suffered a possible grave loss when starry Centre Elmer Lach collided with Don Metz early in the first period and suffered a possible concussion. He had to be helped from the ice and was still unconscious as the game ended.

Tempers frayed and play got rougher in the third, which featured three free-for-alls and ten-minute misconduct penalties to Gus Mortson, of Leafs, and Kenny Mosdell, of Canadiens, in the last ten minutes.

Leafs came out with blood in their eye and Bill Ezinicki finally counted for them, slapping Teeter Kennedy's pass behind Durnan at the 3:02 mark. Twenty-one seconds later Toe Blake rapped in Richard's passout, and Syl Apps wound it up at 14:32 with Toronto's second goal and the last of the night.

Tenpin Teams To Open Play In City Meet

Twenty-nine teams will vie for honors at Gibson's Bowladrome over the week-end when Victoria's seventh annual tenpin bowling tournament gets under way with the team event being rolled off. Singles and doubles champions will be decided the following week-end.

Heading the list will be the Manning Lumber five, who won the title last year with a gross score of 2,921. Also entered is the runner-up Tudor House team.

All champions will be on hand to defend their laurels. George Harknett, all-events titlist last year, will be rolling for Harknett Fuel and has entered both singles and doubles events. Cliff Steele will defend his singles title, and Bob Gray and Jack Pollard have teamed up again to protect their doubles crown.

Harknett's winning total last year for nine games was 1,823 with a 22 handicap. Steele rolled a gross 650 in the singles event with a 12 handicap, and Gray and Pollard marked up 1,064 with a start of 45 pins per game.

This year a special all-events competition has been added for net bowlers and the city's leading keglers will be shooting for the new prize, probably the most coveted in the tournament.

Draw follows:

1:15 p.m.—Manning Lumber, Veterans of France, Sussex Cafe, Western Fish, Kersey's Best, Tudor House, Pacific Meat, Aces, Cherries and Old Crocks.

3:30 p.m.—Shaw Sheet Metal, Arcades Commercial, Provincials, Canadians, Toggery Shop, Golden Leaf Bakery, Pollard Construction, Harknett Fuel, Tillicum "A" and Tillicum "B."

7:00 p.m.—Arcades seniors, Dickson's Tea, Royal Arcanum, Eagles, Duffy's Cafe, Watson's Men's Wear, Commercial Linen, Gyros and Dominion Meat.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 6 (CP).—Superlative goaltending by Aldege (Baz) Bastien, coupled with goals by Dutch Hiller and Bill Benson, gave Pittsburgh Hornets a 2-0 victory over Springfield Indians in an American Hockey League game tonight.

Paddle Stars Enter U.S. Title Tourney

Several leading Victoria City table tennis players have already filed their entry for the Sixteenth United States Table Tennis Championships to be played in Chicago on March 28, 29 and 30.

Ruth Payne, present Western Canada singles titlist; Joy Payne, third ranking British Columbia women's ace, and Wilmot Browne-Cave, a former Western Canada singles titlist, have already entered, with several other entries assured. Joy and Ruth Payne are partnered in the women's doubles, and Joy Payne and Browne-Cave in the mixed.

Always a popular event, the entries in all events are limited, the acceptance of the local players representing a distinct compliment to the grade of table tennis played in Victoria. The tournament is generally held in the East, with Boston and New York being the main centres of play in the United States. The 1946 events were staged in the Temple Building in New York, attracting capacity crowds of over 2,000 each night.

Inter-Ship Bouts At Naden Tonight

An inter-ship boxing match will be held tonight at 7:30 at the H.M.C.S. Naden gym hall, it was announced last night by Lt. Bob Dewhurst, Naden sports officer.

The match will consist of 12 bouts between contestants from H.M.C.S. Uganda, Warrior and Naden. P.O. Gordie Grayston, R.C.N. heavyweight champion, will act as referee. The public is invited to attend.

Fourth Test Match Ends in Draw

ADELAIDE, Feb. 6 (Reuters).—England's luckless cricket team had to be content with a draw against Australia today as the fourth test match between the countries ended.

The Britons outscored the Australians 800 to 702 runs, but when stumps were drawn tonight after six days of play, Australia needed only 98 runs to tie the score and had lost only one wicket in the second innings.

England flashed up from time to time in the fourth match, but lacked consistency. Denis Compton blasted out a masterly century—his second of the match—to lead the British batsmen. Captain Walter Hammond, of England, declared his second innings closed with 340 runs for eight wickets. England had scored 460 runs in her first innings.

Australia had a 487 score going into the second inning and time ran out before she could tie the British score. Arthur Morris and M. Harvey started out strong at bat but Harvey went out after 31 runs. Morris knocked up 124 runs not out and the famed Aussie batsman and captain, Don Bradman hit up 58 runs, not out.

Morris, like Compton, scored a century in each innings, the two of them equalling a record held by ten others in test cricket history.

The final test match will take place in Sydney, N.S.W., starting February 28.

By J. V. McAREE

FEAR rises out of all darkness, fear for us who are diurnal, not nocturnal, animals. So says Donald Culross Peattie in An Almanac for Moderns, and he goes on: "But I do not experience this sensation out of doors, as many people do. Night terrors are bred in closets, beds, cellars, attics and all those traps and pits and sinks in which civilized man houses himself, blunts his senses and breeds his own ills. Out in the open night it may be cold, or windy or rainy, but it is never anything in which a bogy could endure. Indeed, if you think of night in its true, philosophical proportion, you must realize that it is the prevailing, the absolute, thing. Light, day, burning suns and stars—all are the exception. They are but gleaming jewels spattered on the black cloth of darkness. Throughout the universe and eternity it is night that prevails. It is the mother of cosmos, the capacious womb of light."

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (CP).—A number of recent stock market favorites, including motors, stumbled over profit-taking today, but assorted rails, liquors, amusements and special issues successfully contested offerings.

Losses running to 2 or more points after an active and fairly steady opening were trimmed by midday with dealings slowing. Thereafter advances began to appear in most departments. The close, consequently, was no worse than slightly mixed. The pace quickened a bit in the final hour and, for the eighth successive full session, the day's aggregate topped the 1,000,000-share level. Transfers of 1,110,000 shares compared with 1,180,000 Wednesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .2 of a point at 67.8. The market again was the narrowest since January 28. Of 976 issues registering, 423 fell and 346 rose.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP).—Trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today reverted to the level of more than a week ago, before the spectacular action in Lynn Lake issues sent the daily share volume soaring to new yearly highs. Volume for today was about 2,000,000 shares, and prices were uncertain for the most part.

Some industrials closed on the new highs with good gains, while others receded at close. Prominent were Great Lakes Pfd. in the papers, which reached 78 at one stage but leveled off later; Dominion Steel "B" at 17½, to close on a good profit, and B.C. Pulp, 169½a.

The Lynn Lake favorites in the mining group—Sherritt-Gordon and God's Lake—were down on sizeable losses. A handful of other mining issues, however, hit new highs and closed ahead.

London Market

LONDON, Feb. 6 (Reuters).—The stock exchange spent another quiet day today, but the tone was steadier and a few features developed.

Many Argentine rails again finished higher. A harder tendency also developed in the home railway section.

Oils, teas and rubbers closed virtually unaltered, and industrials generally moved within narrow limits to finish a few pence easier.

Small support appeared for British Government stocks, but foreign government stocks were idle and featureless.

Montreal Stocks

MONTREAL, Feb. 6 (CP).—Prices were mixed in dull trading up to the last hour on the Stock Exchange and Curb Market today. Interest in mining issues waned after considerable activity earlier this week.

In a comparatively quiet paper section, Great Lakes, Price and Bathurst were weaker.

No individual stock was heavily traded in industrials. Dosco "B", Cockshutt, Chemicals and Massey were ahead.

Utilities were only moderatively active, with Gatineau, Montreal Power and Power Corporation modest winners.

The Lynn Lake issues were light traders in mines after their recent strength. Sherritt slipped 20, God's Lake 3c, and Denison, ½c.

Vancouver Stocks

VANCOUVER, Feb. 6 (CP).—Oils and mines moved up on the Vancouver Stock Exchange, while industrials were quiet. Sales totaled 50,975 shares.

In mines, Bralorne was at 13.25; Bridge River, 8 1-2; Dentonia, 29; Highland Belle, 83; Pend Oreille, 3.10; and Taylor Bridge, 75; all unchanged. Cariboo Gold Quartz [illegible] Cariboo went up 7 to 2.85. Grull Wihksne rose 1-2 to 13, Hedley Mascot fell 3 to 1.15, Jason went up 5 to 52, and Sheep Creek went up 1 to 15 3-4.

Calgary and Edmonton rose 5 to 2.00, Foothills remained unchanged at 2.35, Home jumped 5 to 3.15, Pacific Pete was up 10 to 1.10, and Vanalta was up 1-2 to 13 in oils.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Feb. 6 (AP).—Dust storms in the Kansas wheat area created heavy buying of that grain on the Board of Trade today, and the March contract advanced to the highest level for any wheat delivery for the last 27 years. There was some price retreat from top levels, but the market continued to have a strong undertone. Corn and oats also were firm.

ROAD NORTH OF COBBLE HILL DAMAGED

Recent snow and frost caused considerable damage to the Island Highway between Cobble Hill, shown above, and a point several miles north of Nanaimo. Most serious damage was reported on a 30-mile stretch between Duncan and Youbou, Cowichan Lake.

Sidney Group Starts Campaign In Opposition to Agrology Bill

Sidney Chamber of Commerce, following an investigation by its agricultural division, has launched a campaign to oppose a bill to be submitted to the Legislature at the coming session to control the practice of agrology.

The chamber, which will send a delegation to the Legislature's committee on agriculture when the proposed agrologists' act comes up for review, has taken the stand that it would restrict the free rights of citizens by granting special privileges to a minority professional group, and would "create a separate class of agriculturists with bureaucratic powers."

The bill was discussed with the Provincial Cabinet recently by a sponsoring delegation headed by J. J. Woods, superintendent, and Dr. William Newton, plant pathologists, of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Saanichton. It is designed to bring the practice of scientific agriculture under the provisions of a "professional" act similar to acts already on the statute books governing several other professional groups in the Province.

According to a brief prepared by C. R. Wilson and endorsed by the Sidney and North Saanich chamber, the proposed act would give the British Columbia Institute of Agrologists the sole right to dictate to the farmer from whom he should obtain paid advice, yet would not acknowledge liability for any losses suffered by the farmer as a result of such advice.

The chamber contends that the proposed act would not give additional protection to the farmer against exploitation or unsound agricultural practice, since legislation and powers already exist governing sale of fertilizers, agricultural poisons, control of noxious weeds, and other practices.

"It denies the fundamental value of intimate practical experience in agriculture in favor of arbitrary academic standards which . . . tend to become formalized and static," the brief states.

The chamber says that approval of the bill could "only lead to further and continuous demands for similar legislation by other groups which ultimately must lead to a weakening of all governmental authority."

The chamber's brief was endorsed by Saanich Progressive Conservative Association at a recent meeting.

Langford Legion Wants Army Hut

LANGFORD, Feb. 6.—Prospects of securing a former army hut to convert into new clubrooms were discussed by Prince Edward Branch, No. 91, Canadian Legion, during a meeting in Colwood Hall. Trevor Norman, who presided, noted the hut situation was more hopeful than it had been two months ago.

Members received an invitation to journey to Metchosin next Monday to discuss formation of a Canadian Legion Branch there.

Next meeting of the Legion will be held in the Women's Institute Hall at Langford. The Women's Auxiliary postponed its regular meeting.

Highway Damage Reported Heavy

NANAIMO, Feb. 6.—The Island Highway from Cobble Hill to a point several miles north of Nanaimo was damaged in spots by recent snow and frost which cracked the hard surfacing.

Worst damage reported at the Public Works Department here is on a 30-mile strip of hard surfacing between Duncan and Youbou, which is badly cracked and heled in places. Replacement of hard surfacing is estimated to be costly.

Truck restrictions reducing loads to 75 per cent of the usual limit still hold for those traveling on the Island Highway in the areas mentioned. On side roads the tonnage is reduced to 50 per cent.

Oak Bay Expenditure for Year Exceeds Revenue by $25,450

"The most outstanding financial feature of the year was that expenditure exceeded revenue by no less than $25,450, and exceeded actual collections by $10,909," R. F. Blandy, Oak Bay municipal treasurer, stated in his annual report.

This situation necessitated a heavy inroad into Oak Bay's balance on hand or working capital, his report stated.

Mr. Blandy said that the chief reason for "this unusual situation" was the amalgamation of Oak Bay for school purposes with Victoria, Esquimalt, part of Saanich and some unorganized territory, in April last year. Oak Bay was called upon to furnish $8,856 in excess of the amount estimated to cover the needs of the Oak Bay School Board, and in addition the Oak Bay board's surplus from 1945 of $5,472 was used up by the new board, the treasurer stated.

"There is irony in this situation because the general policy of the Legislature was intended to bring relief from land taxation to municipalities. Victoria, Saanich and Esquimalt gained heavily under the new policy, but Oak Bay became a sufferer," Mr. Blandy declared.

The tax levy was increased by $23,745, due partly to increasing costs of operation caused by growth. The mill rate, however, was reduced from 30 to 29 following an increase in assessment, the report indicated.

Salable tax sale lands, which brought in $24,093 in 1946, are now [illegible] considerable part of the receipts from these lands in recent years has been set aside in a reserve fund.

Due to the expenditure of large sums on construction work, local improvements, mainly pavements, watermains and the purchase of a waterfront park for $6,000, Oak Bay's funded debt now stands at $509,375. At the end of 1945 the municipality's debt was $371,869. The present debt does not yet include the 1946 local improvements as these were not completed during the year.

Saturday Morning Nature Talks Begin at Museum February 15

The 1947 series of Saturday morning nature talks and motion pictures for Greater Victoria school children at the Provincial Museum will begin on February 15 and conclude on March 29, Education Minister G. M. Weir announced yesterday.

Revived by Dr. G. Clifford Carl, museum director, in 1942, the lectures and the motion pictures, slides, specimens and models as illustrations have become increasingly popular, attracting an attendance of more than 3,300 last year.

Program for the coming season is as follows:

February 15—"Birds," by J. A. Munro, Dominion wildlife officer, Okanagan Landing.

March 8—"Seashore Animals," by George A. Hardy, museum botanist.

March 15—"Fur Seals of the Pribilofs," by Dr. Carl, who led an expedition to the Pribilofs last Summer.

March 22—"The Insect World," by Harry Andison, Dominion entomologist, Victoria.

March 29—"Mammals," by Dr. Ian McT. Cowan, department of zoology, University of British Columbia.

Admission to the lectures will be free, but as accommodation is limited tickets will be issued through the schools.

Each talk will be given twice, at 9.30 a.m. and again at 11 a.m., and only those children holding tickets will be assured of seats.

B.C. Electric Railway Company has agreed to allow children holding lecture tickets or stubs to travel to and from the museum on school tickets.

Good Start Reported For New Club

Newly-formed Victoria Optimist Club was lauded as "off to a better start than any branch in British Columbia" last night by W. T. Tait, extension councillor for Optimist International.

In two weeks, members and the number of interested parties "has grown very rapidly," Mr. Tait said last night, and the Victoria branch hopes to obtain a charter in the near future.

At last night's meeting in the Pacific Club, a nominating committee comprising Ronald Morris, chairman, Harold Philbrook and C. W. Nicholl was appointed. Charter night committee includes R. G. Winter and Ronald Williams.

Main objective of the organization is to help underprivileged boys. It also strives for good government to benefit the city. The club's philosophy is optimism.

The club has over 400 branches in Canada, the United States, Mexico, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Austria, and England. Meetings will be held each Friday at 6:30 in the Pacific Club.

City Police Court

A fine of $50 was imposed on Herbert K. Manuel, found guilty in city police court yesterday of having been in possession of liquor in a cafe.

Sentence of 30 days at hard labor was imposed on Henry E. Parham, convicted on a charge of stealing an automobile horn valued at less than $25. He had pleaded guilty to a second charge of stealing an automobile generator valued at more than $25. A sentence of 30 days' hard labor also was imposed for the second offence. The sentences will run concurrently.

On a second appearance in city police court yesterday morning, Joseph Kong and Leslie C. Cresswell, Vancouver, were committed for trial in a higher court by Magistrate Henry C. Hall. The two men face a morals charge involving a 14-year-old girl from Vancouver.

David Scott, Vancouver, who had already pleaded guilty to a charge, was remanded until Wednesday for sentence.

Chief Justice Chairman of Appeal

THE St. John Ambulance Appeal, in which $90,000 is sought provincially, officially opened this week with Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris of the Supreme Court of British Columbia as provincial campaign chairman. The money, when raised, will carry on the peacetime humanitarian work of the Order of St. John.

In asking British Columbia citizens to support this campaign, Chief Justice Farris emphasized: "To make everyone safety-conscious, to save lives, to reduce accidents and to alleviate distress, the work of St. John Ambulance Association and Brigade in first aid and home nursing is important to all."

Services of the Order of St. John, through its association and brigade members, are entirely voluntary, and continuation of these is entirely dependent upon the public good will and support. Highly trained instructors who, during the war, taught more than 85,000 adults and children in British Columbia the principles of first aid and home nursing, are paid by the Order of St. John. No expense is incurred by the students. F. E. Winslow, O.B.E., is Victoria chairman of the campaign.

Ss. Givenchy Is Towed Here

The 130-foot vessel Givenchy was brought to Victoria's Inner Harbor yesterday morning by the tug Snohomish of Island Tug & Barge Ltd. from Bedwell Bay — "graveyard of naval ships"—near Vancouver.

According to information received yesterday, the Givenchy was recently purchased by W. D. McLaren from War Assets Corporation. The vessel had been at Bedwell Bay for the past year. Mr. McLaren, a naval architect, is managing director of West Coast Shipbuilders Ltd., Vancouver.

He plans to reconvert the Givenchy. It has not yet been decided where the reconversion work will be done.

Givenchy was built at a Montreal shipyard toward the end of the Great War, and was to have been used as a naval patrol ship. At the end of that war she became a patrol ship on this coast for the Federal Fisheries Department, and at the outbreak of the World War became a naval patrol vessel, operating in waters of lower Vancouver Island.

Foresees Changes In Rental Control

D. F. G. McGeer, Vancouver, regional rentals control officer, said here Wednesday he believes "some amendments will be made to the rental control system through a review by the Dominion cabinet."

In an address to members of the Victoria Real Estate Board, Mr. McGeer reported that to date "nothing has yet been announced about changed regulations."

He added that his office had "made several suggestions for changes in rental controls to the Ottawa authorities."

James Bennell, who thanked the speaker, said that most real estate men did not want sudden decontrol on real estate because "it would create hardships all over Canada."

Says Big Projects Being Carried On

More building projects such as apartment houses on real estate subdivisions are being carried on in the United States today rather than building of individual houses, Norman Strunk, executive secretary of the Residential Appraisers' Association of America and Canada, said here Wednesday.

Mr. Strunk, who addressed the Victoria chapter of the organization, said that building costs in the United States, while high, were "gradually being reduced."

Prices of older buildings were lower now, he said.

Municipal Briefs Of the District

Mayor Percy E. George announced yesterday he is recommending to the council appointment of Herbert W. Davey, K.C., to the board of directors of Jubilee Hospital. Mr. Davey will fill out the term of Judge H. H. Shandley, who recently retired although his term was not finished until June 30. Mr. Davey formerly served the city as a member of the board of debt retirement trustees set up under the Refunding Act.

Formation of a traffic safety committee, as suggested recently by the Victoria and Districts Trades and Labor Council, was described yesterday by Mayor Percy E. George as "a good idea."

George Wilkinson, secretary of the labor organization, advocates that the City Council set up such a committee to draft a constructive program to assist in the reduction of traffic accidents within the city. Such a group, he explained, would consist of representatives of the City Council, police department, labor organizations, Chamber of Commerce, and automobile club.

Mayor George said that such a body would serve only in an advisory capacity, if formed.

The second deposit cheque on the City Hall—$20,000—has been received by the city lands department from Hagar & Swayne, Ltd., acting as agents for the unnamed purchasers, it was reported yesterday. A third cheque, for $25,000, will be deposited if and when the sale is ratified by the taxpayers. Total purchase price is $176,000.

Street light globes are still being destroyed by vandals, it was reported yesterday by Kenneth Reid, city street lighting superintendent. He said, however, that vandalism in this one regard is decreasing. Recently, Mr. Reid noted, a .303 army service rifle bullet was taken out of a Johnson Street lamp. It had shattered the outside globe and lodged in the socket of the lamp.

Appeal Dismissed In Court Here

Appeal Court yesterday dismissed the appeal against sentence of Douglas M. Rogers, convicted in Vancouver on a theft charge and sentenced to two years in prison.

Admitting previous imprisonments dating back to 1942, the 22-year-old your said: "For the past 18 months I've been trying to go straight."

Mr. Justice O'Halloran said he did not think the youth's record was bad, but commented that it indicated a tendency to become a habitual criminal.

Campaign Body Planned By Old-Age Pensioners

"Fight for Canada's Aged—You'll Be Old Yourself Someday."

This slogan is to be used by a proposed Old-Age Pensioners' Campaign Council, to be originated in Victoria, and spread throughout Canada, it was announced yesterday by J. W. Hope, secretary of the executive council of the Old-Age Pensioners' Organization of British Columbia.

The secretary said yesterday he hopes younger people will take an interest in the proposed campaign, which will be aimed at improving conditions generally for pensioners of this province and the country as a whole.

He remarked on the rapid growth of old-age pensioners' organizations throughout British Columbia. The organization now has more than 4,000 members in the province, including 250 in this city. The local group was organized one year ago, at that time with a membership of six.

Major object of his organization, Mr. Hope emphasized, is to have the old-age pension raised from $30 to $50 a month, without any means test, taxation, or attachment.

Rotarians Told Of Fur Sealing

"Fur Sealing in the Pribilof Islands," was the topic of an interesting address given yesterday by Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, before the Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel.

Dr. Carl's address was illustrated with colored slides he took while on the seal breeding grounds last Summer.

He described the islands as rocky and jagged, and of volanic origin, with cliffs as high as 900 feet. His pictures showed the seal herds, the breeding grounds, and activities on the islands in connection with the conservation program being conducted by the Canadian and United States Governments.

Canada received one-fifth of all the skins collected each year, through international agreement, he said. It was estimated there were at least 3,000,000 seals on the islands last year. "It is a splendid example of what organized conservation can do," he added, "when it is remembered that only a comparatively short time ago this number was only in the thousands."

Lorimer, the founder of the first P.-T.A. in Victoria. R. Kipling lit the second candle in honor of Mrs. Muirhead, who was the organizer of this work in British Columbia. Miss Freeman, a former teacher, lit the third candle in honor of ex-teachers and ex-pupils of the school. Dr. G. C. Carl of the Provincial Museum, gave an illustrated address on the Seals of the Pribilof Islands. Refreshments were served.

Miss Croft also presented a gift to Mrs. E. M. Lorimer, founder of the first P.-T.A. in British Columbia at Craigflower school. Entertainment of the evening included music by the Carwright trio and a radio play by members of the P.-T.A. Plans were completed for a Valentine dance to be held in South Park School on February 14 for Grades 7 and 8. A sewing meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. P. Waring, 418 Menzies Street, February 26.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"BAMBINO"—IS IT SLANG?

"I understand that 'bambino' is Italian for baby," writes one of our readers, "and should therefore be a perfectly good word to use, rather than mere slang. Is this true?"

"Bambino" is the Italian for child, a dimunitive form of bambo, meaning childish. As to whether its use as it has been heard in English is in the nature of slang—what is the "Babe" in "Babe Ruth?" The reader is no less well equipped to answer that than the most assiduous worker in research.

However, in the word "bambino" we have a very interesting subject. Far from being primarily slang, it is a term of ecclesistical usage! It is generally understood in the fine arts to describe the figure of Christ represented as an infant in swaddling clothes, sometimes presented with a halo or surrounded by angels. In Catholic countries such figures are familiar, set up for worship by the faithful. And there are many altar-pieces in the form of Bambino, some famous in the art world. One of the best known of these figures is a richly painted wood-carving in the Church of Ara Coili, in Rome, the Santissimo Bambino, a shrine visited for miraculous healing.

Premature baldness in men is frequently due to wearing tight leather bands inside the hat and closely fitting waterproof and cloth caps.
